Crucified Woman:

Crucified Woman Doris Jean Dyke, 1991 Review by Mary Coady THE FIRST two chapters tell the story of a piece of sculpture that caused considerable controversy when it first appeared in Toronto's Bloor Street United Church the Easter weekend of 1979 The sculpture later placed permanently in the grounds of the University of Toronto's Emmanuel College depicts a woman hanging naked with her arms outstretched in cruciform style Included in the book is a cross section of the responses to the sculpture some people called it blasphemous because it seemed to suggest that Jesus Christ was a woman some found it erotic and therefore unsuitable for a Christian milieu There were some men who said they were sexually aroused by the sculpture Many women however were stirred by the image of suffering in the rigid defenceless body and distorted face The sculpture reminded them of the abuse and exploitation suffered by themselves their mothers and all of womankind It also reminded them that this exploitation has been due in no small measure to the dominant attitude within the Christian churches which insinuated that women were inferior to men and that suffering was right and proper that it was God's will The remaining chapters of this slim book form a theological reflection on the sculpture itself and the responses to it This reflection highlights the misogyny at the core of traditional Christianity Dyke gives cogent examples of this she notes for instance that women do most of the work in the church but they often feel they are not trusted by the men in charge This book will be close to the bone for women brought up according to the tenets of religious institutions It is a timely volume and a welcome addition to the growing ranks of books by women that are trying to break the male stranglehold on Christianity from www.booksincanada.com/article_view.asp?id=1791

The Female Crucifix Ilse E. Friesen, 2001-05-16 In particular Professor Friesen focuses on an analysis of paintings sculptures and frescoes originating in the German speaking regions of Bavaria and Tyrol where the veneration of the saint attained its peak BOOK JACKET Cross Examinations Marit Trelstad, In today's theological landscape the significance of the cross has become strongly affirmed and radically questioned This exciting volume gathers theologians and historians who have thought through these critical and constructive issues Do traditional understandings of the cross valorize suffering or violence Are the older soteriological models which see redemption as a kind of ransom or debt satisfaction fitting for the contemporary worldview Do they produce a piety that acquiesces in needless suffering or does the cross precisely meet the massive suffering and injustice of today's world Following an expert introduction to the issues and options by editor Marit Trelstad each author addresses the Christian symbol of the cross in the context of current theological sociological political or environmental issues

Fragments for Fractured Times Nicola Slee, 2020-09-30 If ever a period of time felt fractured it is now Whichever way we turn we witness the dismembering and fracturing of many previously taken for granted realities with maps and borders physical and metaphorical being redrawn before our eyes What place for the feminist practical theologian in such a climate In Fragments for Fractured Times one of the world's leading feminist practical theologians Nicola Slee brings together 15 years of papers articles talks and sermons many of them previously unpublished Collected from diverse times places settings and occasions Slee offers an introduction to each fragment holding it up to the light and examining its size shape texture and pattern Drawing on a wide and diverse range of her writing Slee demonstrates the richness and variety of feminist practical theological writing What feminist theology brings to the table of scholarly thinking and embodied practice is she suggests something creative artful prophetic as well as playful a resource for Christian living and thinking in fractured times

Seeking the Risen Christa Nicola Slee,2011-03-17 Art and feminist theology often explore the figure of the feminine side of Christ However the risen Christa has had little if any coverage within these fields Now Seeking the Risen Christa by Nicola Slee uses a well crafted combination of reflection illustration and poetry to investigate the Risen Christa The discussion revolves around the central narratives of the gospels and the major Christological themes These subjects are re imagined and revisited from the hypothetical perspective of Christa Ultimately Nicola Slee wants Seeking The Risen Christ to represent a search for a risen Christa and therefore encourage readers to develop a freer unlimited relationship with Christ

Pirckheimer Conclusion From Logos to Christos Ellen M. Leonard, Kate Merriman, 2011-06-27 From Logos to Christos is a collection of essays in Christology written by friends and colleagues in memory of Joanne McWilliam. McWilliam was a pioneer woman in the academic study of theology, specializing in Patristic studies and internationally recognized for her work on Augustine. For countless students she was a teacher, a mentor, an inspiration. These fourteen essays are a fitting tribute to her memory. Written by recognized North American scholars, the essays explore various aspects of Christology, inviting the reader to probe the meaning and significance of Jesus Christ for today. They address a broad range of issues, including the Christology of the Acts of Thomas, Hooker on divinization, and Christ figures in contemporary Canadian culture. Teachers of theology and religious studies, pastors, and informed general readers will find the essays stimulating and instructive. They present the readers with considered, mature, and current scholarship. These are the questions that engaged Joanne McWilliam throughout her life, and she was happy to know that the critical dialogue would continue in this volume as friends and colleagues wrestled with Christological questions. For her, in Jesus, we come to know the compassion, the power, the wisdom, the love, and the faithfulness of God.

David Herbert Lawrence, 1930 Vanity Fair, 1927 Methodist Magazine and Quarterly Review, 1920 The Methodist Review, 1920 The Scandal of a Crucified World Jacob Tesfai, 1994. What is the meaning of the cross today for the suffering millions, victims of hunger, war, and racism, and for Christians who seek to understand their faith? For the last four years, members of the Institute for Ecumenical Research in Strasbourg have explored the theology of the cross, working with theologians from various countries and confessional backgrounds. Their study was ecumenical and included traditional Western interpretations as well as those from so-called third world countries and traditionally underrepresented groups. In The Scandal of a Crucified World, editor Jacob Tesfai (Eritrea) first provides an overview of how theology comes to terms with the cross of Jesus throughout the world. Jean Marc Ela (Cameroon) reflects on Christ's life and passion, while Simon Maimela outlines Martin Luther's theology of the cross and its relevance for present-day struggles in South Africa. James H. Cone reflects passionately on the suffering that characterizes African American life in the United States. From Asia, Andreas A. Yewangoe (Indonesia) provides an overview on attitudes toward suffering in the variety of Asian religions. C. S. Song (Taiwan) reviews the role of the cross in the history of Christian missions, struggling with the image of the cross as a means of conquest. From Latin America, Walter Altmann (Brazil) highlights the images of Jesus Christ that accompanied the domination of indigenous peoples. Winston D. Persaud (Guyana) explores the place of the cross in the lives of individual Christians as well as in the life of the church. From Europe, Elisabeth Moltmann-Wendel (Germany) lifts up feminist images of the cross as solidarity in suffering and as struggle against structural sin. Theo Sundermeier (Germany) uses Martin Luther's theology of the cross to explore non-Western thought on the meaning of the cross.
