Rhetorical Agendas Patricia Bizzell, 2006-04-21 This volume represents current theory and research in rhetoric across disciplines and is of interest to scholars and students in rhetoric studies in speech communication English and related disciplines A description of colloquial Guarani Emma Gregores, Jorge A. Suárez, 2018-02-19 No detailed description available for A description of colloquial Guarani Indigenous Education and the Metaphysics of Presence Carl Mika, 2017-03-16 Indigenous Education and the Metaphysics of Presence A worlded philosophy explores a notion of education called worldedness that sits at the core of indigenous philosophy This is the idea that any one thing is constituted by all others and is therefore educational to the extent that it is formational A suggested opposite of this indigenous philosophy is the metaphysics of presence which describes the tendency in dominant Western philosophy to privilege presence over absence This book compares these competing philosophies and argues that even though the metaphysics of presence and the formational notion of education are at odds with each other they also constitute each other from an indigenous worlded philosophical viewpoint Drawing on both Maori and Western philosophies this book demonstrates how the metaphysics of presence is both related and opposed to the indigenous notion of worldedness Mika explains that presence seeks to fragment things in the world underpins how indigenous peoples can represent things and prevents indigenous students critics and scholars from reflecting on philosophical colonisation However the metaphysics of presence from an indigenous perspective is constituted by all other things in the world and Mika argues that the indigenous student and critic can re emphasise worldedness and destabilise presence through creative responses humour and speculative thinking This book concludes by positioning well being within education because education comprises acts of worldedness and presence This book will be of key interest to indigenous as well as non indigenous academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education indigenous and Western philosophy political strategy and post colonial studies It will also be relevant for those who are interested in philosophies of language ontology metaphysics and knowledge Phenomenology, Soundscape, Music James M. Kopf, 2025-06-30 James Kopf approaches the phenomenon of music from the level of perception as opposed to presuming a definition of music as either prima facie known or gleaned solely from a specific cultural tradition Methodologically this work draws from phenomenology particularly the field of modern phenomenology as inaugurated by Edmund Husserl and its promulgation by Martin Heidegger sound studies and in terms of rhetorical style deconstruction though it considers the work of thinkers from a wide variety of other fields from Theodor Reik s psychoanalysis to archaeology and beyond The author charts a path forward into a more ethical understanding of music and listening in the age of global capitalism one that tolerates difference and uniqueness across the perceived divides of culture time species and matter In pursuing this path the possibility of musical experiences to be emergent in aural spaces historically deemed non musical is considered the space between notes of a chorale breaks between movements aboriginal
