Before Forgiving Cautionary Views Of Forgiveness In Psychotherapy:

Before Forgiving Sharon Lamb, Jeffrie G. Murphy, 2002 Psychologist Sharon Lamb philosopher Jeffrie Murphy argue that forgiveness has been accepted as a therapeutic strategy without serious critical examination They intend this volume to be a closer critical look at some of the questions the topic raises You Don't Need to Forgive Amanda Ann Gregory, 2025 Feeling pressured to forgive offenders is a common reason why trauma survivors avoid mental health services and support Trauma psychotherapist Amanda Ann Gregory explores the dangers of forced forgiveness and the benefits of elective forgiveness which gives survivors the agency to progress in their recovery on their own terms Forgiveness in Practice Stephen Hance, 2018-09-21 This collection reveals what forgiveness looks like in practice from the standpoint of those working in the helping professions Written from many different perspectives this eclectic volume challenges the reader to reconsider their assumptions about forgiveness and illuminates everyday impact of forgiveness The Oxford Handbook of Moral Development Lene Arnett Jensen, 2020-01-24 The nature of people's moral lives the similarities and differences in the moral concepts of individuals and groups and how these concepts emerge in the course of human development are topics of perennial interest In recent years the field of moral development has turned from a focus on a limited set of theories to a refreshingly vast array of research questions and methods This handbook offers a comprehensive international and up to date review of this research on moral development Drawing together the work of over 90 authors hailing from diverse disciplines such as anthropology education human development psychology and sociology the handbook reflects the dynamic nature of the field Across more than 40 chapters this handbook opens the door to a broad view of moral motives and behaviors ontogeny and developmental pathways and contexts that children adolescents and adults experience with respect to morality It offers a comprehensive and timely tour of the field of moral development Seeking Forgiveness Glen Allan Pettigrove, 2003 The Ethics of Forgiveness Christel Fricke, 2011 We are often pressed to forgive or in need of forgiveness Wrongdoing is common Even after a perpetrator has been taken to court and punished forgiveness still has a role to play How should a victim and a perpetrator relate to each other outside the courtroom and how should others relate to them Communicating about forgiveness is particularly urgent in cases of civil war and crimes against humanity inside a community where if there were no forgiveness the community would fall apart Forgiveness is governed by social and in particular by moral norms Do those who ask to be forgiven have to fulfil certain conditions for being granted forgiveness And what does the granting of forgiveness consist in We may feel like refusing to forgive those perpetrators who have committed the most horrendous crimes But is such a refusal justified even if they repent their crimes Could there be a duty for the victim to forgive Can forgiveness be granted by a third party Under which conditions may we forgive ourselves The papers collected in the present volume address all these questions exploring the practice of forgiveness and its normative constraints Topics include the ancient Chinese and the Christian traditions of forgiveness the impact of forgiveness on the moral dignity and self respect of the victim self forgiveness the narrative of forgiveness as well as the limits of forgiveness Such limits may arise from the personal historical or political conditions of wrongdoing or from the emotional constraints of the victims

Trauma, Truth and Reconciliation Nancy Potter,2006-08-24 People do great wrongs to each other all the time sometimes deliberately sometimes accidentally Many within the fields of mental health are centrally involved in helping people to heal from traumatic events and to come to terms with wrongs done to them by others However there is surprisingly little in the way of guidance few texts that situate healing from trauma or evildoing within a combined political and philosophical context This book looks at how people communities and nations can address great wrongs and how they can heal from them taking into consideration how differences in cultures histories and group expectations affect the possibilities for healing The book examines the merits of forgiveness and reconciliation in the context of civic and interpersonal relationships looking at the role of the law compared to extra legal and therapeutic approaches to individual and collective personal and social healing Topics include gendered norms for forgiveness the role of narrative in contrast to a search for truth when conflicts arise and an analysis of the conception of truth that undergirds truth and reconciliation commissions Some chapters also look at how healing can occur when power imbalances exist how to understand and address evil genocide and war Finally the book examines the importance of relational models of human interaction to thinking about trauma and healing and how aboriginal models for healing can contribute to our understanding of trauma and forgiveness Throughout each contributor considers the psychological toll of trauma on both victims and perpetrators of wrongdoing and critically inquires into value systems that enhance or inhibit healing Several authors draw on real life cases to support their arguments and others provide a rich theoretical framework within which readers can think through various approaches and models in a critical manner This highly original and thought provoking collection of articles by authors in psychiatry psychology philosophy and theology is unique in its emphasis on systems of oppression that intersect with anguish and moral uncertainty
