Behind The Tattooed Face:

Behind the Tattooed Face Hereatunga Pat Baker,1975      Behind the Tattooed Face Heretaunga Pat Baker,1975 A sweeping story of action and suspense Behind the Tattooed Face presents the complex web of Maori belief tribal rituals and discipline which existed at the time of the voyages of Captain James Cook The story is set in the late 1700s about 600 years after the great canoes from the Central Pacific had arrived in New Zealand Here in the new land off the Canoe Coast in what is now known as the Bay of Plenty the people settled and prospered and here Maori society reached the zenith of its power and development Then as the people multiplied the question of survival became inextricably interwoven with the concepts of mana and tribal honour The delicately poised balance of power was easily upset so that bloody warfare cannibalism and slavery prevailed This electrifying novel is now in its fifth printing and is the first NZ historical novel to be written by a Maori It is also the first serious attempt to show pre European Maori people as the really were      Writing Along Broken Lines Otto Heim,1998 Covering the two decades from 1972 Swiss scholar Otto Heim presents detailed readings of the novels and short fiction by Heretaunga Pat Baker Alan Duff Patricia Grace Keri Hulme Witi Ihimaera Bruce Stewart J C Sturm Apirana Taylor and Ngahaia Te Awekotuku His book places the fiction by Maori writers in the context of a culture of survival and traces its textual engagement with violence between empathy and sacrifice from the privacy of domestic violence to the public arenas of systemic violence and war He argues that out of this confrontation with violence emerges a distinctive ethnic world view created by the construction of individual experience the development of an ideological stance and the expression of a spiritual orientation Heim s analysis shows works of fiction by contemporary Maori writers as challenging explorations of the constraints placed on the literary imagination by the urgent facts of the human condition and the imperatives of culture

Behind the Tattooed Face Erana L. K. Cooper,1997      The Circle & the Spiral Eva Rask Knudsen,2021-11-01 In Aboriginal and M ori literature the circle and the spiral are the symbolic metaphors for a never ending journey of discovery and rediscovery The journey itself with its indigenous perspectives and sense of orientation is the most significant act of cultural recuperation The present study outlines the fields of indigenous writing in Australia and New Zealand in the crucial period between the mid 1980s and the early 1990s particularly eventful years in which postcolonial theory attempted to centre the margins and indigenous writers were keen to escape the particular centering offered in search of other positions more in tune with their creative sensibilities Indigenous writing relinquished its narrative preference for social realism in favour of traversing old territory in new spiritual ways roots converted into routes Standard postcolonial readings of indigenous texts often overwrite the difference they seek to locate because critical orthodoxy predetermines what difference can be Critical evaluations still tend to eclipse the ontological grounds of Aboriginal and M ori traditions and specific ways of moving through and behaving in cultural landscapes and social contexts Hence the corrective applied in Circles and Spirals to look for locally and culturally specific tracks and traces that lead in other directions than those catalogued by postcolonial convention This agenda is pursued by means of searching enquiries into the historical anthropological political and cultural determinants of the present state of Aboriginal and M ori writing principally fiction Independent yet interrelated exemplary analyses of works by Keri Hulme and Patricia Grace and Mudrooroo and Sam Watson Australia provided the thick description that illuminates the author s central theses with comparative side glances at Witi Ihimaera Heretaunga Pat Baker and Alan Duff New Zealand and Archie Weller and Sally Morgan Australia
