Beginning Teaching And Beyond:

Beginning Teaching and Beyond Kevin Barry, Len King, 1998 Beginning Teaching and Beyond is a text for all student teachers and for experienced teachers and principals who want to become effective and to renew or revitalise their teaching. The text which is divided into three parts addresses these major questions: Part One: How might student teachers prepare for teaching practice? Part Two: What approaches can student teachers, experienced teachers and principals take to become more effective at teaching through self-improvement? Part Three: In what ways and to what extent can research in teaching inform and improve classroom practice? Students will become engaged in the process of teacher self-improvement as they develop first the competence to cope with their early teaching practice periods and then strive for a higher level of effectiveness preparatory to their long-term teaching practice or initial teaching appointments. For those beyond their initial teaching appointment, sections about teacher renewal, reflective teaching and action research will be of particular relevance.

Beginning Teaching and Beyond Kevin Barry, Len King, 1998 This is text for all student teachers and for experienced teachers and principals who want to become effective and to renew or revitalise their teaching. The features of the book include its authenticity and relevance to Australian and New Zealand contexts, its developmental approach to the processes of teaching and the theory behind them, its clear unpretentious naturalistic personal writing style, its use of informative display panels, practical activities and naturally occurring examples.

King, Loretta Visser, 2006-07-01 Beginning Teaching, 1996 Stories of Beginning Teachers Alysia D. Roehrig, Michael Pressley, Denise A. Talotta, 2002 Stories of Beginning Teachers offers insight into the challenges and triumphs of beginning teachers, presenting both research findings and case studies on the challenges faced by new teachers. More than twenty categories and five hundred specific examples of potential problems and issues are cited in Part 1 of this book. Armed with such useful information about the most frequent serious and persistent challenges, Roehrig, Pressley and Talotta assert a young educator will be better prepared to teach and more likely to succeed. Part 2 contains stories of the teaching experience of participants in the University of Notre Dame's Alliance for Catholic Education. Included are nine vivid stories of the struggles and successes of new teachers reflecting on their first year, as well as sixteen shorter summaries of the daily lives of beginning teachers. Reading this book, a novice teacher will better understand student motivation, student
