The Making of the New Testament Arthur G. Patzia,1995-05-25 In affirming the divine inspiration of Scripture we too often forget the human side of the story The narratives letters and Apocalypse of our New Testament were shaped by worn pens gripped by calloused ink stained fingers Their authors ears were more likely assaulted by the urban clatter of busy intersections and bustling markets than attuned to a still small voice Scrolls that bumped across cobbled Roman roads and pitched through rolling Mediterranean seas found their destination in stuffy dimly lit crowded Christian house churches in Corinth or Cencreae There they were read aloud and reread handled and copied forwarded and collected studied and treasured Their ordinary story is true to their extraordinary message the mystery of the Word that became flesh The Making of the New Testament is a textbook study of the origin collection copying and canonizing of the New Testament documents Like shrewd detectives reading the subtle traces of evidence biblical scholars have studied the trail of clues and pieced together the story of these books
