Models for Effective Writing J. Karl Nicholas, James R. Nicholl, 1994 Models for Effective Writing is a rhetorically organized, varied, and rich collection of writings by student and professional authors. This valuable writing resource focuses on demonstrating the various rhetorical modes such as classification and cause-effect. In addition, it contains a sizable argumentation section along with significant coverage of narrative, descriptive, and expository writing. The second edition retains the relaxed style and thoughtful features that made the original instructional content clear and accessible. Within each section, selections are organized in order of increasing difficulty, followed by questions and vocabulary exercises at the end of each section. Separate introductory chapters, The Reading Process and The Writing Process, are also included to help improve basic reading and writing skills. Uses a new annotated essay, The Arctic Forest by Barry Lopez, to illustrate the reading process in Chapter 1.

Wild Africa John A. Murray, 1993 A vibrant literary safari to the Dark Continent. In these pages, the reader will share the experiences of the most intrepid adventurers as they endure the weather, the dangerous animals, parasites, and nature's most potent arsenal of biological disease. The writings reflect not only these extremes of the land but the extremes of human experience as well.

Critical Inquiries Jacqueline Jones Royster, 2003 Critical Inquiries intends to spark discussion and response with seven focused explorations of cultural themes that provide contexts and occasions for college writers to develop a stance and voice. Edited by noted composition scholar Jacqueline Jones Royster, Critical Inquiries unlike many readers does not attempt to present a balanced perspective. Instead, each of the seven major topics—identity, home, nation, immigration, education, health, and technology—is framed by a sequence of readings that disrupt and unsettle conventional thinking. Students are challenged to move beyond simplistic pro-con argumentation to explore connections between personal and public life in their own essays and responses. Readings in Critical Inquiries include historical as well as contemporary voices, going beyond traditional essays to include poems, letters, position and policy statements, and literary nonfiction. This multi-genre approach brings issues of language awareness and rhetorical strategy to the forefront, offering students a rich engagement with the deliberate choices made by responsible writers.

Reading the Way Home David J. Carlson, 2000

Company C John Sack, 1996-06 But in Company C John Sack doesn't write about himself or of units, munitions, and tactics, the alphabet soup that other war stories drown in. He writes of people of boys in their teens and twenties who knew they might die and almost as bad might kill and became men in one hundred wild, hair-raising hours.
