

Computation as Design Pedagogy

SPEAKER

Prof. Dr. Mine Özkar

Istanbul Technical University
Department of Architecture

20 June 2016

Monday 13:40 FFB 05

ABSTRACT

The talk will focus on the pedagogical pragmatism of visual computation. Computation, with or without computers, can be a pedagogical tool for design learning, especially in the context of first year education, answering in many ways to acquiring a foundational core of design knowledge, skills and attitudes.

BIOGRAPHY

Mine Ozkar is the Coordinator of the Architectural Design Computing Program and a Professor of Architecture at Istanbul Technical University. Collaborating with design professionals, computer scientists and art historians, her research focuses on visual, spatial and material aspects of design computation, and their integration to foundational design education. Mine holds a SMArchS in design inquiry and a PhD in design and computation from MIT where she was a visiting professor for a semester in 2013. She is currently an elected member of UAC editorial board.

Design Computation, Collaboration, Reasoning, Pedagogy Patricia G. McIntosh,1996 Design Computing and Cognition '04 John S. Gero,2004-07 Artificial intelligence provides an environmentally rich paradigm within which design research based on computational constructions can be carried out This has been one of the foundations for the developing field called design computing Recently there has been a growing interest in what designers do when they design and how they use computational tools This forms the basis of a newly emergent field called design cognition that draws partly on cognitive science This new conference series aims to provide a bridge between the two fields of design computing and design cognition The papers in this volume are from the First International Conference on Design Computing and Cognition DCC 04 held at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology USA They represent state of the art research and development in design computing and cognition They are of particular interest to researchers developers and users of advanced computation in design and those who need to gain a better understanding of designing Structures and Architecture - Bridging the Gap and Crossing Borders Paulo J.S. Cruz,2019-07-08 Structures and Architecture Bridging the Gap and Crossing Borders contains the lectures and papers presented at the Fourth International Conference on Structures and Architecture ICSA2019 that was held in Lisbon Portugal in July 2019 It also contains a multimedia device with the full texts of the lectures presented at the conference including the 5 keynote lectures and almost 150 selected contributions The contributions on creative and scientific aspects in the conception and construction of structures on advanced technologies and on complex architectural and structural applications represent a fine blend of scientific technical and practical novelties in both fields ICSA2019 covered all major aspects of structures and architecture including building envelopes fa ades comprehension of complex forms computer and experimental methods futuristic structures concrete and masonry structures educating architects and structural engineers emerging technologies glass structures innovative architectural and structural design lightweight and membrane structures special structures steel and composite structures structural design challenges tall buildings the borderline between architecture and structural engineering the history of the relationship between architects and structural engineers the tectonic of architectural solutions the use of new materials timber structures among others This set of book and multimedia device is intended for a global readership of researchers and practitioners including architects structural and construction engineers builders and building consultants constructors material suppliers and product manufacturers and other professionals involved in the design and realization of architectural structural and infrastructural projects
