Charles,James D. Slotta,Nathaniel Lasry,2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i e extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in betweens straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation Designing for Active Learning Christine Olgren,1996 Using the Flipped Classroom Model to Design Active Learning Spaces for High School Students Sumandy Young,2021 Traditional methods of teaching and learning in education are modeled after decades of historical systems that has shaped the past and present day applications of academia These historical methods which are still being used in modern day generations are proving to be ineffective engagement strategies for students to be fully involved or acquire meaningful knowledge for their development This Master of Interior Design practicum explores The Flipped Classroom model to propose the re design of a hypothetical high school environment for students grades seven to twelve The Flipped Classroom model is a strategy that flips or reverses the traditional structure of class and homework The strategy was chosen as an approach to re envision learning through the built environment in order to create greater learning opportunities more active learning and increased connections to community The topic looks at theories related to higher order thinking learner centered environments flipped roles feedback exchange as well as motivation Strategies were derived and applied to the built environment through a process of interior design stages The selected site for modeling this design is the Elmwood High School located at 505 Chalmers Ave in Winnipeg Manitoba Engaging Ideas John C. Bean,Dan Melzer,2021-06-09 Use your course s big ideas to accelerate students growth as writers and critical thinkers The newly revised third edition of Engaging Ideas delivers a step by step guide for designing writing assignments and critical thinking activities that engage students with important subject matter questions This new edition of the celebrated book now written by the co author team of Bean and Melzer uses leading and current research and theory to help you link active learning pedagogy to your courses subject matter You ll learn how to Design formal and informal writing assignments that guide students toward thinking like experts in your discipline Use time saving strategies for coaching the writing process and handling the paper load including alternatives to traditional grading such as portfolio assessment and contract grading Help students use self assessment and peer response to improve their work Develop better ways than the traditional research paper to teach undergraduate reading and research Integrate social media multimodal genres and digital technology into the classroom to promote active learning This book demonstrates how writing can easily be integrated with other critical thinking activities such as inquiry discussions simulation games classroom debates and interactive lectures The reward of this book is watching students come to class better prepared more vested in the questions your course investigates more apt to study purposefully and more likely to submit high quality work Perfect for higher education faculty and curriculum designers across all disciplines Engaging Ideas will also earn a place in the libraries of graduate students in higher education   Journal of Geoscience Education ,2007   Technology Supported Active Learning Carlos Vaz de Carvalho,Merja Bauters,2021-07-14 This book promotes student centered approaches to the learning process allowing students to develop skills and competences that traditional passive learning methods cannot foster In turn supporting active learning with digital technology tools creates new possibilities in terms of pedagogical design and implementation This book addresses the latest research and practice in the use of technology to promote active learning As such on the one hand it focuses on active pedagogical methodologies like problem based learning design thinking and agile approaches on the other it presents best practice cases on the use of digital environments to support these methodologies Readers will come to understand and learn to apply active learning methodologies either by replicating the best practices presented here or by creating their own methods
