Aging And Drug Therapy:

Aging and Drug Therapy G. Barbagallo-Sangiorgi,A.N. Exton-Smith,2011-11-04 One of the greatest advances in Geriatric Medicine during the last quarter of a century has been the increased realization of the possibilities of treatment for elderly patients Neglect has been replaced by a more optimistic therapeutic endeavour and countless old people have benefitted from this approach But there is also a drawback and this is the risk of hazardous side effects of medication which are often directly proportional to the biological potency of the drug and may be unpredictably increased due to changes in the senile organism In fact the anatomical and biological changes in old age alter both the kinetics of most drugs and the receptor response On account of these changes the individual tolerance of aged patients to drug therapy may be quite different from that of younger subjects Thus for a variety of reasons elderly patients receive more drugs but they are at a higher risk of encountering adverse reactions which often show atypical clinical features We can therefore speak of geriatric iatrogenic disorders and point out that some of these side effects are determined by a complex pathogenesis due to the particular pathophysiological condition in the elderly It is important to encourage the habit of individually evaluating potential risk versus expected advantages of drugs in keeping with the same principles adopted in the evaluation of cost benefit ratio

Aging and Drug Therapy G. Barbagallo-Sangiorgi,A. N. Exton-Smith,2014-01-15 Drug Therapy for the Elderly Martin Wehling,2012-08-17 With people aged 65 years and older currently making up the fastest growing age group throughout the world the demographic revolution of an aging society will inevitably lead to increased pressure to develop a rationalistic and age tailored process of diagnosis and treatment among the elderly As aging people often suffer from several chronic diseases and are being treated with multiple medications concurrently unwanted drug interactions occur more frequently Whereas recent approaches have recommended to remove particular drugs from the medication regimen to avoid adverse effects Drug Therapy for the Elderly underlines both indispensable and dispensable elements of drug treatment in order to provide an overall assessment of drugs suitable for the aged In view of the multimorbidity and polypharmacy situations experienced by elderly patients this book takes into account the special needs and requirements shown by this group thus serving as a timely reference for physicians who treat the elderly

Handbook of Geriatric Drug Therapy Springhouse Publishing, Springhouse, 2000-01-01 This one of a kind guide covers how to safely prescribe and administer drugs to the elderly Readers find guidelines for nearly 800 drugs proven strategies for improving patient compliance and drug updates on the Internet Contents include effects of aging on drug therapy drug entries alphabetized by generic name components of analgesic combination products creatinine clearance calculations HCFA guidelines for using antipsychotics anxiolytics sedatives and other drugs in long term care facilities adverse reactions misinterpreted as age related changes age related changes in laboratory values and a photoguide to tablets and capsules

Drugs and Aging Dieter Platt, 2012-12-06 Experimental gerontological research is necessary to obtain optimal information and thus ensure proper drug therapy for the elderly Most older persons acquire multiple diseases first of all chronic diseases They involve complex problems of a physical social and psychological nature The multimorbidity of the elderly raises many questions in drug therapy By contrast with our extensive knowledge of pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics in younger age groups few facts are available in respect of the elderly A variety of factors may influence drug therapy Physiological and pathological age related changes of molecules cells organs and the total organism may interact to enhance or inhibit drug therapy in higher age groups It is well known that elderly patients are overmedicated and therefore the incidence of adverse drug reactions increases with age Elderly patients with multimorbidity often have a diminished body clearance of drugs age related changes of the kidney seems to be one of the most important factors in this regard Far less important than the elimination of drugs through the kidney is their excretion in the bile So far results have disclosed that oxidative steps in drug clearance are more likely to be disturbed than phase II reactions Furthermore changes in distribution volume and age related alterations in receptor sensitivity also influence the clearance of drugs in the elderly

Drugs and the Elderly Charlotte Kenton, 1980 Developing Drug Products in an Aging Society Sven Stegemann, 2016-10-20 This book aims to address the major aspects of future drug product development and therapy for older adults giving practical guidance for the rational product and clinical development and prescribing of drug products to this ever growing segment of the population With authors coming from key aging markets such as Europe the USA China and Japan the book will provide valuable information for students scientists regulators practitioners and other healthcare professionals from academia industry and regulatory bodies
