Aging and Public Policy William P. Browne, Laura Katz Olson, 1983-04-08      Aging Public Policy Theodore H. Koff, Richard W. Park, 1993 Aging Public Policy Bonding the Generations is presented in three parts Part One describes the policy process as a response to human needs through the laws of our country Part Two explores the national policy development on behalf of older persons Part Three describes the major public policies on behalf of the elderly that include Social Security Medicare The Older Americans Act institutional care employment and retirement policies The final chapter discusses the advocacy process in the field of aging      Public Policies for an Aging Population Boston University. Summer Institute in Gerontology, 1980      Aging and Public Policy John B. Williamson, Judith A. Shindul, Linda Evans, 1985      The Aging Bennett M. Rich, Martha Baum, 2010-11-23 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of federal programs for the aging and their origins Landmark federal legislation affecting the aging was enacted in the 1930s and the intervening decades have witnessed a dramatic increase in the number and scope of programs But far from constituting a cohesive national policy for the elderly the many programs reflect the particular political and social conditions surrounding their origin and implementation The multiplicity and complexity of resources and services available make achieving even a reasonable grasp of this field extremely difficult This study offers a coherent and readable summary of this important area of federal legislation      Public Policy and the Aging William W. Lammers, 1983 Abstract Public policy areas that affect the aging in complex ways are examined and assessed for policy analysts and decision makers The relevant issues caused by shifts in federal and state government roles are considered The tension between means and incomes for current and future programs affecting the aging the special problems of older women the hospice movement safer environments the aging as consumers and the consequences of inflation are all analyzed Specific topics include policy making factors social security employment retirement and pension policies health and long term care policies including medicaid and medicare social services and housing policies The effects of policies of the 1980s and the future on the US aging population are discussed Major programs affecting the aging are extensively analyzed and alternatives are considered A glossary and bibliography are appended wz      International Handbook on Ageing and Public Policy Sarah Harper, Kate Hamblin, 2014-08-29 With the collective knowledge of expert contributors in the field The International Handbook on Ageing and Public Policy explores the challenges arising from the ageing of populations across the globe With an expansive look at the topic this com      Aging and Public Policy Neal Cutler, 1984      Aging, Social Inequality, and Public Policy Fred C. Pampel, 1998-02-25 Author Fred C. Pampel treats age as a component of social inequality which gives rise to the three major themes of the text diversity in the experience of individuals differences in public policy and variations across nations Comparison of the United States with other nations is a central component of the book providing a greater understanding of the larger forces that shape old age      Public Policy and the Old Age Revolution in Japan Scott Bass, Masato Oka, Jill Norton, Robert Morris

*Deceased*,2014-06-03 Public Policy and the Old Age Revolution in Japan captures the vitality of Japanese policymakers and the challenges they face in shaping a modern society responding to its changing needs The rapid transition to an aging society poses a set of complex policy and resource dilemmas the responses taken in Japan are of great value to policymakers professionals and students in the fields of gerontology Asian and Japanese studies sociology public policy administration and management and anthropology in other industrial aging societies Readings in the Political Economy of Aging Meredith Minkler,Carroll Estes,2019-03-19 Includes 16 essays which address many issues from a different perspective suggested by the experience of aging in America This study explores the political social and economic realities which have an impact on Americans as they grow older Aging Public Policy Theodore H. Hoff,Richard W. Park,2016-12-05 Aging Public Policy Bonding the Generations is presented in three parts Part One describes the policy process as a response to human needs through the laws of our country Part Two explores the national policy development on behalf of older persons Part Three describes the major public policies on behalf of the elderly that include Social Security Medicare The Older Americans Act institutional care employment and retirement policies The final chapter discusses the advocacy process in the field of aging

Introduction to Public Policy David K. Brown,1997 This book proposes a policy context upon which to build a framework for programs and services for the aging The approach is grounded in principles which view public policy as an open competitive process in which decisions about the distribution of scarce and limited resources are made The traditional view of the aging network as neat circumscribed levels of federal state area agency and local provider entities each with clearly defined levels of authority is laid aside in favor of a circuitous intensely competitive and interactive system It is further suggested that if the aging network is to survive into the next century as a major policy player it will need to develop its institution building approach through discrete and strategic penetration of a myriad of coalitions policy makers and policy centers on all levels Roles values and mission are discussed in this context Federal Public Policy on Aging Since 1960,1987-09-18 This bibliography on federal policy on aging deals not only with official actions taken by government but also with the issues that cause such actions to be taken or at least proposed Dealing with a period beginning with 1960 when public support of national action on social insurance and other aging related matters was mounting this bibliography s entries cover the years through early 1986 taking due note of the contemporary wave of analyses protesting perceived inequities in social security and medicare provisions The 162 entries in Part One annotate book length or other evaluations declaring the failure partial success or considerable achievement of federal action that intended to make life better for older Americans In addition to global appraisals Part One offers entries dealing with key principles in the making of federal policy on aging The 589 entries that comprise Part Two provide a comprehensive sampling of the policies programs and issues of importance in the study of aging and older Americans Among the issues related to federal public policy on aging that are covered are income and retirement policy health and long term care housing services consumer issues discrimination

Congress. House. Select Committee on Aging, 1975 Age Or Need? Bernice L. Neugarten, 1982-12 Should benefits for older people be based on age or need Do programmes that serve only older people deflect resources that should go to other people Some of the contributors to this volume argue that social service programmes should be based on need rather than defined groups of people Apart from anything else age based programmes confirm negative stereotypes of older people and lump them into an undifferentiated group But would the reform of social services along these lines jeopardize the recent progress made in the condition of older people New thoughts and new information are provided in support of both arguments Here is a ringside seat at a critical juncture in the social reconstruction of old age Light on a Gray Area Stephen Sapp, 1992 Light on a Gray Area examines the public policy implications of the graying of America from the viewpoint of Christian theological ethics Provides a summary of current public policy concerning aging clearly setting forth the gravity of the demographic situation and the need for more serious attention to the elderly Critical Perspectives on Aging Meredith Minkler, Carroll Estes, 2020-11-25 This unique volume brings together 20 critical essays on aging within the context of the broad social political and economic factors that help shape and determine the realities of growing old Rather than viewing aging in isolation it explores the social creation of old age dependency and the profound influence of race gender and social class on what it means to grow old It looks too at such topics as the biomedicalization of aging the role of business and the media in changing societal images of the old the fact and fiction behind senior power the multibillion dollar nursing home industry and the role of advanced capitalist nations in creating economic dependency among elders in the Third World Residential Care for the Elderly Sharon Baggett, 1989-09-25 Although residential care and assisted living for older adults has expanded rapidly in recent decades it has done so in a policy environment beset by confusion and conflicting purposes Sharon A Baggett traces many of the current problems to insufficient knowledge of the population these policies are designed to serve In her examination of the frequently neglected interface between policy and people she provides a comprehensive review of current federal and state policies a detailed case study of a state residential care program and an analysis of the needs and characteristics of persons in assisted living facilities Baggett s policy overview covers such areas as the confusion between housing and care supply and demand factors in the economics of residential care conditions contributing to the increase in numbers of assisted living facilities and current policies that define and limit the choice of residential alternatives A case study of Oregon s residential care program shows how that state has adapted federal initiatives to local goals and philosophies of long term care Funding mechanisms regulations and the role of state agencies in developing and monitoring compliance are discussed Following a comprehensive profile of facility residents the question of using functional assessment measures to determine individual needs is explored Linking the larger policy issues with an in depth analysis of residents served and actual services provided this book will be helpful to policy planners and developers administrators and case managers as well as students and academics concerned with housing and assisted living services for the elderly

The New Aging Fernando Torres Gil,1992 This most timely authoritative and insightful book provides a new framework for understanding the circumstances currently surrounding America s elderly It establishes the important foundation of three key forces which are changing the national perspective on the aging They are generational claims on the government to respond to social needs diversity in aging populations and increasing longevity Torres Gil provides a context supported by informative background material for recognizing the significant demographic changes being experienced in the United States The work considers the policy issues decisions controversies and choices now associated with aging and demonstrates how the perception of the elderly has changed from the 1960s and 1970s to today It asks what is fair in the allocation of public and private resources to the elderly How does the nation pay for services How do we make and implement the political and economic decisions with which a government and a society are now faced Torres Gil examines the ability of the government and the active labor force to support a large elderly population and urges a change in the current delivery of services and benefits He addresses all the essential issues necessary to avoid inter generational conflict including comprehensive planning the building of social consensus and inter generational coalitions
