Agricultural Involution The Processes Of Ecological Change In Indonesia:

Agricultural Involution Clifford Geertz, 1963 A remarkably interesting account of Indonesian agricultural history primarily covering the period of Dutch control from 1619 to 1942 Drawing on ecology sociology and economics Geertz provides an insightful and persuasive analysis The Annals If colonial geography ever succeeds in establishing itself as a discrete and integral focus of inquiry it may well date its majority to the publication of Agricultural Involution Geographical Record A brilliant and superbly written study an incisive even frightening description of the most crucial dilemma in contemporary Indonesia Agricultural History A valuable and important study in which source materials from history economics soil science geography and other fields are brilliantly marshalled and interrelated But besides being an exemplary study in the interaction of history physical environment and agricultural technology this book represents a watershed between narrowly conceived ethnographies and the flood of verbose and ill digested post war technology and social change monographs that are wont to aim high and hit wide A model of comparative analytical writing Man

Agricultural Involution Clifford Geertz, 1966 Agricultural Involution. The Process of Ecological Change in Indonesia.... Clifford Geertz, 1966 The Agricultural Involution Clifford Geertz, 1966 The Java that Never was Hans Antlöv, Jörgen Hellman, 2005 This book is about how cultures and societies on Java over the past century have been perceived and socially constructed by scholars inside and outside of Indonesia It is a reflective book how on the one hand academic theories have shaped our view of Java and on the other hand how the study of Java has influenced theoretical developments within a number of disciplines including anthropology development studies religious studies political science gender studies and the arts

BOOK JACKET Culture and Customs of Indonesia Jill Forshee, 2006-09-30 Indonesia comprises more than 17 000 islands stretching on either side of the equator for nearly 4 000 miles and hundreds of ethnic groups with almost 300 languages spoken This book reveals the remarkable social religious and geographical differences that exist from island to island Because of such variety Indonesia defies simple categorizations Europeans have produced most of the written histories of this region although Indonesians have contributed much Culture and Customs of Indonesia reveals something of local people s ideas of their identities and pasts as well Indonesian cultures covered include those of forest dwelling hunters rice growers fisherfolk village artisans urban office and factory workers intellectuals artists wealthy industrialists street vendors and homeless people Readers will learn about the amazing range of belief systems material culture and arts that enliven Indonesia Forshee describes the majestic temples complex poetry and literature lavish theatrical performances and splendid visual arts and more that have distinguished Indonesia for centuries and continue into the present Indonesians are shown to be constantly reinterpreting and refining their cultures in the modern world

The Politics of Colonial Exploitation Cornelis Fasseur, 2018-05-31 The development of the Cultivation System from the years 1840 to 1860 is the focus of this work by the Dutch scholar Cornelis Fasseur The author presents a general overview of Dutch policy and decision making and considers how these policies influenced the evolution of the Cultivation System and how the system itself altered Dutch views of governance in Java

Land, Livelihood, the Economy and the Environment in Indonesia Anne Booth, Chris Manning, Thee Kian Wie, 2012 This volume of essays is intended to honour an exceptional indeed a unique scholar Joan Hardjono grew up in Sydney and graduated from Sydney University in the mid 1950s She majored in English and Geography and like most girls in those years who had managed to complete a tertiary degree she probably expected to embark on a career as a high school teacher in Australia But no doubt prompted by the spirit of adventure which she has kept throughout her long career she decided to go to Indonesia as a volunteer teacher The scheme which brought young Australian graduates to Indonesia at that time was pioneering it pre dated the US Peace Corps and several of the participants went on to distinguished academic careers On the boat from Australia to Indonesia she met a young Indonesian called Hardjono who after participating in the struggle against the Dutch in the late 1940s gained an engineering degree at the Institute of Technology in Bandung then as now Indonesia s leading tertiary institute for the study of engineering and technology Joan was posted to teach in Semarang the capital of the province of Central Java and family legend has it that Hardjono used a borrowed motor cycle to pay her frequent visits bringing with him Javanese delicacies as gifts Since the late 1980s Joan has been busy as a consultant to a number of bilateral and multilateral aid agencies She has retired as a university teacher but served for several years as an active member of the advisory board of a Bandung based research organization AKATIGA She has also served since its inception in early 2001 on both the Board of Trustees and the Advisory Board of the Jakarta based research group The SMERU Research Institute The editors are pleased that four chapters in this volume have been contributed by staff of these two institutions Joan continues to be an active member of the SMERU boards and in her advisory role she has always stressed that SMERU should focus on what it does best namely conducting solid research on the problems of poverty social protection and unemployment rather than engaging in policy advocacy She worked very hard editing the institute s first international publication Poverty and Social Protection in Indonesia which was published by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies in Singapore in 2011 Joan has often regretted the fact that so few Indonesian social scientists publish internationally and has assisted a number of scholars over the years to turn their research findings into publishable papers in English language outlets Like many Indonesians in her age group Joan has at times been disappointed that the country s macroeconomic progress over the last four decades has not yet achieved the elusive goal of a just and prosperous society To friends she can be at times very critical of the performance of politicians and senior bureaucrats both during the Suharto era and subsequently But she would be the last to deny that some progress has been made She continues to visit Australia on a regular basis but Bandung remains her home and she remains steadfast in her love for and commitment to the people of Indonesia

Rural Livelihoods, Resources, and Coping with Crisis in Indonesia M. J. Titus, Paul P. M. Burgers, 2008 Most literature on the economic crisis in Indonesia has focused on the negative macro economic impacts during the crisis years of 1997-99. The case studies presented in this book take a different perspective. With a longitudinal research perspective, this comparative study analyses a wide variety of responses to the crisis among communities and households. The case studies in this book cover the coping and adapting mechanisms of rural households under a variety of resource use practices and resource use regulations in different areas of Indonesia. International Handbook of Population and Environment Lori M. Hunter, Clark Gray, Jacques Véron, 2022-02-07. This handbook presents a timely and comprehensive overview of theory, data, methods, and research findings that connect human population dynamics and environmental context. It presents regional summaries of empirical findings on migration and environmental connections and summarizes environmental impacts of migration such as urbanization and deforestation. It also offers background on the health implications of environmental conditions such as climate change, natural disasters, scarcity of natural resources, as well as on resource scarcity and fertility, gender considerations in population and environment, and the connections between population size, growth, composition, and carbon emissions. This handbook helps readers to better understand the complexities within population-environment connections, in addition to some of the opportunities and challenges within environmental demography. As such, this collection is an invaluable resource for students, researchers, and policy analysts in the areas of demography, migration, fertility, health, and mortality, as well as environmental, global, and development studies. Pacific Affairs, 1964. Includes book reviews and bibliographies. The Anthropology of Development and Globalization Marc Edelman, Angélique Haugerud, 2005-01-24. The Anthropology of Development and Globalization is a collection of readings that provides an unprecedented overview of this field that ranges from the field's classical origins to today's debates about the magic of the free market. Explores the foundations of the anthropology of development, a field newly animated by theories of globalization and transnationalism. Framed by an encyclopedic introduction that will prove indispensable to students and experts alike. Includes readings ranging from Weber and Marx and Engels to contemporary works on the politics of development, knowledge, consumption, environment, gender, international NGO networks, the IMF campaigns to reform the World Bank, the collapse of socialism, and the limits of post-developmentalism. Fills a crucial gap in the literature by mingling historical, cultural, political, and economic perspectives on development and globalization. Present a wide range of theoretical approaches and topics. Economic Change in South-East Asia, C.1830-1980 Ian Brown, 1997. This book provides an introduction to the economic history of South East Asia from the early nineteenth century to the present. Topics include the strong commitment of rural South East Asians to export production from the middle of the nineteenth century, the economic role of the Chinese, and the causes and nature of the region's modern industrialization. Relocating Development in Indonesia Cathy Ann Hoshour, 2000. The International Handbook of the Demography of Race and Ethnicity Rogelio Sáenz, David G. Embrick, Néstor P. Rodríguez, 2015-06-03. Examining key countries in every region of the world, this handbook presents population profiles and analyses concerning racial/ethnic disparities and changing intergroup relations. Inside prominent scholars from various parts of the world and disciplines address the links between stratification demography and conflict across the globe Organized by region continent coverage for each profiled country includes demographic information a historical overview that addresses past racial ethnic conflict identification of the most salient demographic trends and issues that the country faces theoretical issues related to the linkages between stratification demography and conflict methodological issues including quality of data and cutting edge methods to better understand the issue at hand and details on the possible future of the existing trends and issues with particular emphasis on public policy and human rights This handbook will help readers to better understand the commonalities and differences that exist globally in the interplay between stratification demography and conflict In addition it also provides an excellent inventory of theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches that are needed to better comprehend this issue This handbook will appeal to students researchers and policy analysts in the areas of race and ethnic relations demography inequality international sociology international relations foreign studies social geography and social development
