Air Navigation:

Air Navigation Octavian Thor Pleter, 2024-04-22 This book takes a new approach to air navigation extending the classic scope of positioning and guidance to efficient and safe 4D flight trajectory management Modern air navigation aims at flight trajectories optimisation There is an infinite number of solutions to the classic navigation problem of flying from one airport to another but most of them are wasteful of resources and even risky Minimising all costs and risks incurred by the 4D flight trajectory makes air navigation both efficient and safe which are key factors in air navigation services Beyond minimising fuel burn and CO2 efficiency addresses non CO2 emissions and noise This is a visually intensive book using examples and case studies to illustrate the concepts the physics of navigation and the mathematical models involved Numerical examples reflect its problem solving nature It is useful to aerospace students engineers pilots air traffic controllers technicians and scientists curious about aviation

Cross-Border Provision of Air Navigation Services with Specific Reference to Europe Niels van Antwerpen, 2008-05-16 The tremendous flow of air traffic traversing the airspace of the European Union demands extraordinary vigilance on the part of air navigation service providers Although the first requirement of air navigation services is obviously the enhancement of safety providers must also attend to the efficiency and optimisation of airspace capacity and the minimisation of air traffic delays As technological and operational improvements proceed in these areas jurisdictional issues of responsibility and liability particularly in cases of mid air collisions become ever sharper and more in need of precise definition This detailed and insightful exposition focuses on these issues from three overlapping perspectives the international and European legal framework dealing with air navigation services the question of state responsibility and the question of liability for damage inflicted by air navigation service providers The author's in depth analysis includes examination of many elements among them the following the interrelated roles of the International Civil Aviation Organization ICAO the European Civil Aviation Conference ECAC the European Organisation for the Safety of Air Navigation EUROCONTROL the European Community's European Aviation Safety Agency EASA and other international bodies the Single European Sky initiative its establishment of Functional Airspace Blocks FUAs and its ongoing research program SESAR establishment of transparent lines of state responsibility in the context of cross border provision of air navigation services and prospects for the imposition of a transparent liability regime on corporatized air navigation service providers In conclusion the author enumerates the essential elements required for cross border provision of air navigation services and offers well thought out final recommendations and conclusions on the most preferable way to pursue such cross border provision within and outside the European Community A model agreement for the delegation of air navigation service provision appears as an appendix All professionals concerned with air navigation in Europe and elsewhere will appreciate the depth of knowledge and commitment apparent in this book The deeply informed insights manifest in its pages will be of enormous value to aviation agency officials and air law practitioners everywhere
