Early Pennine Settlement Alan King, 1970      The Agrarian History of England and Wales: Volume 1, Prehistory to AD 1042 Stuart Piggott, Joan Thirsk, 2011-04-28 This volume surveys the evolution of the man made landscape in Britain over the period of some three millennia before the Roman conquest      Deviant Burial in the Archaeological Record Eileen M. Murphy, 2008-08-19 This edited volume contains twelve papers that present evidence on non normative burial practices from the Neolithic through to Post Medieval periods and includes case studies from some ten countries It has long been recognised by archaeologists that certain individuals in a variety of archaeological cultures from diverse periods and locations have been accorded differential treatment in burial relative to other members of their society These individuals can include criminals women who died during childbirth unbaptised infants people with disabilities and supposed revenants to name but a few Such burials can be identifiable in the archaeological record from an examination of the location and external characteristics of the grave site Furthermore the position of the body in addition to its association with unusual grave goods can be a further feature of atypical burials The motivation behind such non normative burial practices is also diverse and can be related to a wide variety of social and religious beliefs It is envisaged that the volume will make a significant contribution towards our understanding of the complexities involved when dealing with non normative burials in the archaeological record      Neolithic cave burials Rick Peterson, 2019-04-12 This is the first book length treatment of Neolithic burial in Britain to focus primarily on cave evidence It interprets human remains from forty eight caves and compares them to what we know of Neolithic collective burial elsewhere in Britain and Europe It reviews the archaeology of these cave burials and treats them as important evidence for the study of mortuary practice Drawing on evidence from archaeology anthropology osteology and cave science the book demonstrates that cave burial was one of the earliest elements of the British Neolithic It also shows that Early Neolithic cave burial practice was highly varied with many similarities to other burial rites However by the Middle Neolithic a funerary practice which was specific to caves had developed      The North Pennines from Prehistory to Present Paul Frodsham, Martin Green, Greg Finch, 2024-11-14 The first comprehensive survey of the archaeology of the North Pennines from Mesolithic to modern times Traces of 10 000 years of human activity survive today including flint scatters at Mesolithic campsites earthworks of prehistoric and later settlements and field systems and extensive remnants of the post medieval miner farmer landscape      Archaeology in the Pennines T. G. Manby, Percival Turnbull, 1986 BAR158 1987      Geography and Earth Sciences Publications, 1968-1972 ,1978      The Archaeological Journal ,2005      Landscape and Settlement in Britain, AD 400-1066 Della Hooke, Simon Burnell, 1995 This book examines recent views on the emerging settlement patterns of early medieval Britain and their relation to land use drawing on both archaeological and documentary sources Simon Esmonde Cleary takes the study from the later Romano British into the post Roman period Christopher Holdsworth examines the re emergence of Christianity in sixth century England the location of minsters and their role in the economy The problematic theme of continuity or dislocation recurs in a number of chapters and is closely investigated by Peter Rose and Ann Preston Jones in their chapter on Cornwall a region marginal to the main thrust of Anglo Saxon cultural influence Ethnicity as a factor for change is challenged and Colleen Batey looking at Northern Britain finds that archaeology fails to identify with any degree of certainty the specific Scandinavian house type in the uplands Della Hooke presents a more general summary of the period across England noting the evidence for the emerging landscape regions which were characterized by particular settlement types and field systems and in a case study of the Failand ridge in North Somerset James Bond sets the evidence within a much broader time scale revealing the gaps which still characterize our knowledge of the early medieval period
