Through a historical sociological case study of the political decision making concerning the teaching of religion in Denmark from 1721 to 2006, Reeh explains why sociology of religion and sociology more generally should pay more attention to interstate relations, state form, and state agency. The Danish state's interest in its inhabitants' religion over the last three centuries responded not only to religious motives but to concerns about foreign relations and the survival of the state. The World's Great Classics Comprising a General Index, a Subject Index, and Index of Authors, and a Chronological Index, 1902 Index to The World's Greatest Literature, 1902
