E. Lorcin,Todd Shepard,2016-05 While the Mediterranean is often considered a distinct unified space recent scholarship on the early modern history of the sea has suggested that this perspective is essentially a Western one devised from the vantage point of imperial power that historically patrolled the region s seas and controlled its ports By contrast for the peoples of its southern shores the Mediterranean was polymorphous shifting with the economic and seafaring exigencies of the moment Nonetheless by the nineteenth century the idea of a monolithic Mediterranean had either been absorbed by or imposed on the populations of the region In French Mediterraneans editors Patricia M E Lorcin and Todd Shepard offer a collection of scholarship that reveals the important French element in the nineteenth and twentieth century creation of the singular Mediterranean These essays provide a critical study of space and movement through new approaches to think about the maps migrations and margins of the sea in the French imperial and transnational context By reconceptualizing the Mediterranean this volume illuminates the diversity of connections between places and polities that rarely fit models of nation state allegiances or preordained geographies Author's Digest Rossiter Johnson,1908 Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society of Australasia, South Australian Branch (Incorporated). Royal Geographical Society of Australasia. Parliament. House of Commons,1906 The First Helicopter War Charles R. Shrader,1999-06-30 Using recently released French official documents and a variety of other sources this study explains how the French Army so recently defeated by the Viet Minh insurgents in Indochina was able to successfully defeat the Algerian nationalist rebels on the battlefield while nevertheless losing the war at the conference table This French success between 1954 and 1962 was due in large part to the superior logistical system of the French Army and the use of the helicopter to enhance French operational mobility French counter mobility measures particularly the construction of heavily defended interdiction zones on the eastern and western borders of Algeria proved highly effective against the rebels Such methods essentially cut off the rebel forces from their bases and from sources of supply located outside Algeria and consequently strangled and destroyed the rebel forces within Algeria No other work on the Algerian War focuses upon the role of logistics in the outcome of the conflict The detailed statistical data and comprehensive description and analysis of the logistical organizations and methods of both the French and the nationalist rebels are supplemented by excellent maps This study also provides useful insights into the nature of the wars of national liberation and counter insurgency doctrines that dominated military affairs in the mid 20th century

Additionally, many universities and educational institutions have their own digital libraries that provide free access to PDF books and manuals. These libraries often offer academic texts, research papers, and technical manuals, making them invaluable resources for students and researchers.
