Flora, Amber Vogel, 1980-09-01 Biographical sketches of 378 writers associated with the American South are included in this important new reference work Compiled by 172 scholars these summaries many of which are not readily available elsewhere provide in their total effect a brief history of southern literature from colonial times to the present The volume is in part a companion to A Bibliographical Guide to the Study of Southern Literature Louis D Rubin Jr ed a work that has become a standard reference for anyone seriously interested in the literature of the South With its wealth of essential biographical information on the region s writers both major and minor this new guide will take its place alongside that earlier volume as an invaluable aid to the study of southern writing Especially useful will be complete listings of the first printings of the books by each writer provided after the respective summaries Included as contributors of the individual biographical summaries are most of the better known scholars of southern literature plus a number of promising young scholars The editors each of whom is an outstanding scholar in southern literary studies are      A Book of Hand-woven Coverlets Eliza Caroline Calvert Obenchain, 1914      The Bulletin Needle and Bobbin Club, 1916      A Book of Hand-woven Coverlets Eliza Calvert Hall, 1912      The Garden , 1891      Calls and Responses Tim A. Ryan, 2008-06 In this comprehensive groundbreaking study Tim A Ryan explores how American novelists since World War I have imagined the institution of slavery and the experience of those involved in it Complicating the common assumption that authentic black authored fiction about slavery is starkly opposed to the traditional racist fiction and history created by whites Ryan suggests that discourses about American slavery are and have always been defined by connections rather than disjunctions Ryan contends that African American writers didn t merely reject and move beyond traditional portrayals of the black past but rather actively engaged in a dynamic dialogue with white authored versions of slavery and existing historiographical debates The result is an ongoing cultural conversation that transcends both racial and disciplinary boundaries and is akin to the call and response style of African American gospel music Ryan addresses in detail more than a dozen major American novels of slavery from the first significant modern fiction about the institution Margaret Mitchell's Gone with the Wind and Arna Bontemps's Black Thunder both published in 1936 to recent noteworthy novels on the topic Edward P. Jones's The Known World and Valerie Martin's Property both published in 2003 His insistence upon the necessity of interpreting novels about the past directly in relation to specific historical scholarship makes Calls and Responses especially compelling He reads Toni Morrison's Beloved not in opposition to a monolithic orthodoxy about slavery but in relation to specific arguments of controversial historian Stanley Elkins Similarly he analyzes William Styron's The Confessions of Nat Turner in terms of its rhetorical echoes of Frederick Douglass's famous autobiographical narrative Ryan shows throughout Calls and Responses how a variety of novelists including Alex Haley Octavia Butler Ishmael Reed Margaret Walker and Frances Gaither engage in a dynamic debate with each other and with such historians as Herbert Aptheker Charles Joyner Eugene and Elizabeth Genovese and many others A substantially new account of the development of American slavery fiction in the last century Calls and Responses goes beyond merely exalting the expression of black voices and experiences and actually reconfigures the existing view of the American novel of slavery Transactions, 1880 Touring

Literary Mississippi Patti Carr Black, Marion Garrard Barnwell, 2014-07-18 By taking the literary traveler on seven preplanned tours through the Delta along Highway 61 to the heart of Faulkner's Yoknapatawpha country to sites near Interstate 55 and the Natchez Trace to the piney woods of East and South Mississippi and along the sun struck Gulf Coast this book captures the phenomenal abundance and diversity of Mississippi literature More than a guidebook this book includes capsule biographies and well over a hundred photographs of writers their residences and their literary environments It also provides maps and gives explicit directions to writers' homes and other literary sites The sheer number of writers discovered, recovered, and claimed by Mississippi will astonish travelers both from within and from without the state Included are not only such major figures in the pantheon of American literature as William Faulkner Eudora Welty Tennessee Williams and Richard Wright but also the less well known Every nook and cranny of the state claims a piece of Mississippi's literary heritage Literature pervades Yazoo City Jackson Greenville Oxford Natchez the Gulf Coast and the Delta Blues country Willie Morris Richard Ford and Beverly Lowry have declared that a famous writer's presence in their hometowns convinced them that they too could be writers As the locations bring to life the connection of ordinary rituals with the stuff of fiction poetry and memoir these hands-on tours make evident the special cross-pollination of writer and community in Mississippi
