Bulrush Murders:

Bulrush Murders Rebecca Rothenberg, 1994 Claire Sharples a Boston microbiologist is transferred to the San Joaquin Valley in California where her boredom is finally overcome when her life is endangered and she finds herself attracted to the ill-mannered man who helps save her Reprint The Dandelion Murders Rebecca Rothenberg, 2014-07-02 In California Claire Sharples a plant pathologist turned PI probes the killing of a Los Angeles journalist and two Mexican fruit pickers The journalist was researching a story on pesticide abuse By the author of The Bulrush Murders Gardening Can Be Murder Marta McDowell, 2023-09-05 This fun engrossing book takes a look at the surprising influence that gardens and gardening have had on mystery novels and their authors With their deadly plants razor sharp shears shady corners and ready-made burial sites gardens make an ideal scene for the perfect murder But the outsized influence that gardens and gardening have had on the mystery genre has been underappreciated Now Marta McDowell a writer and gardener with a near-encyclopedic knowledge of the genre illuminates the many ways in which our greatest mystery writers from Edgar Allan Poe to authors on today's bestseller lists have found inspiration in the sinister side of gardens From the cozy to the hardboiled the literary to the pulp and the classic to the contemporary Gardening Can Be Murder is the first book to explore the mystery genre's many surprising horticultural connections Meet plant-obsessed detectives and spooky groundskeeper suspects witness toxic teas served in foul play and tour the gardens both real and imagined that have been the settings for fiction's ghastliest misdeeds A New York Times bestselling author herself McDowell also introduces us to some of today's top writers who consider gardening integral to their craft assuring that horticultural themes will remain a staple of the genre for countless twisting plots to come This book is dangerous A veritable cornucopia of crime fiction and gardening lore it faces the reader with multiple temptations books to seek out plants to obtain garden tours to book Vicki Lane author of the Elizabeth Goodweather Appalachian Mysteries The Tumbleweed Murders Rebecca Rothenberg, Taffy Cannon, 2001 Plant pathologist Claire Sharples unearths a skeleton by a river in California's Central Valley and becomes embroiled in a mystery that began 50 years earlier Mystery Women, Volume Three (Revised) Colleen Barnett, 2010-12-31 Like other fictional characters female sleuths may live in the past or the future They may represent current times with some level of reality or shape their settings to suit an agenda There are audiences for both realism and escapism in the mystery novel It is interesting however to compare the fictional world of the mystery sleuth with the world in which readers live Of course mystery readers do not share one simplistic world They live in urban suburban and rural areas as do the female heroines in the books they read They may choose a book because it has a familiar background or because it takes them to places they long to visit Readers may be rich or poor young or old conservative or liberal So are the heroines What incredible choices there are today in mystery series This three-volume encyclopedia of women characters in the mystery novel is like a gigantic menu Like a menu the descriptions of the items that are provided are subjective Volume 3 of Mystery Women as currently updated adds an additional 42 sleuths to the 500 plus who were covered in the initial Volume 3 These are more recently discovered sleuths who were introduced during the period from January 1 1990 to December 31 1999 This more than doubles the number of sleuths introduced in the 1980s 298 of whom were covered in Volume 2 and easily exceeded the 347 series and some outstanding individuals described in Volume 1 which covered a 130 year period from 1860 1979 It also includes updates on those individuals covered in the first edition changes in status short reviews of books published since the first edition through December 31 2008
