

SPIRITUALITY gives the individual autonomy over his or her interpretation of the soul or spirit, whereas RELIGION implies participation in a communal practice and interpretation of divine belief and worship.

It should be noted that many religious traditions contain a "spiritual" element to them.

Faith in Schools? Ian MacMullen,2009-01-10 Should a liberal democratic state permit religious schools Should it fund them What principles should govern these decisions in a society marked by religious and cultural pluralism In Faith in Schools Ian MacMullen tackles these important questions through both political and educational theory and he reaches some surprising and provocative conclusions MacMullen argues that parents desires to educate their children in the faith must not be allowed to deny children the opportunity for ongoing rational reflection about their values Government should safeguard children s interests in developing as autonomous persons as well as society s interest in the education of an emerging generation of citizens But he writes liberal theory does not support a strict separation of church and state in education policy MacMullen proposes criteria to distinguish religious schools that satisfy legitimate public interests from those that do not And he argues forcefully that governments should fund every type of school that they permit rather than favoring upper income parents by allowing them to buy their way out of the requirements deemed suitable for children educated at public expense Drawing on psychological research he proposes public funding of a broad range of religious primary schools because they can help lay the foundations for young children s future autonomy In secondary education by contrast even private religious schools ought to be obliged to provide robust exposure to the ideas of other religions to atheism and to nonreligious approaches to ethics

Rights and Justice in Theory and Practice Josie Welsh, Louise Hewitt, 2025-12-02 This collection explores questions of rights and justice from theoretical and practical perspectives by examining examples of the process and application of the law The book brings together leading experts and early career academics to consider the application of rights the achievability of justice and the methods available within varied legal frameworks to secure this It offers a distinct approach by drawing contributions from a wide range of intellectual arenas thus breaking down legal silos and highlighting the interplay between different subjects Authors confront the conceptual challenges of rights and justice beginning with broad constitutional discussions in international and domestic contexts The book examines institutions procedure and matters of rights and justice located in numerous social contexts such as regarding interests in or the protection of property and the avoidance of discrimination or the protection of beliefs at work For the younger generation such questions are long term and in many ways evolving Each chapter offers fascinating insight to support ongoing reflections on rights and justice in the modern world The book will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners with interests in human rights socio legal studies areas of law such as family law criminal law employment law as well as access to justice and constitutional justice

Religious Belief, Social Establishment and Autonomy Christopher J. Eberle, 1997 Military Medical Ethics: Sect. IV. Medical ethics in the military. Medical ethics on the battlefield: the crucible of military medical ethics, 2003 A Principled Framework for the Autonomy of Religious Communities Alex Deagon, 2023-02-23 This book engages in a theological critique of the legal frameworks and theoretical approaches of Australia the US and England to create a peaceful coexistence of difference which supports both religious freedom and equality It develops a new framework for reconciling religious freedom and discrimination in Western liberal democracies and presents a unique approach to practically supporting both religious freedom and equality as fundamentally important objectives which promote more compassionate and cohesive communities The book applies the idea of peaceful coexistence of difference by assuming the dignity and goodwill of different people and perspectives and proceeds upon shared virtues such as love which are affirmed by all

Legal Position of Churches and Church Autonomy Hildegard Warnink, 2001 This book includes all papers presented at the colloquium on Church and State on 28 February and 1 2 March 2001 The colloquium focusing on the legal position of churches the autonomy of churches in modern societies and recent tendencies in jurisprudence was organised by the Faculty of Canon Law of the Catholic University Leuven in collaboration with the Faculty of Theology of the University of Stellenbosch Both the conference and the book have two objectives The first is informing about the South African history on Church and State relationships and its current situation under the new Constitution The second objective is to search for models leading to a new equilibrium between Church and State in South Africa Models offered by other countries are examined as a point of reference or as a possible source of inspiration International scholars and academics church Ministers as well as leading politicians offer their viewpoints and enter into debate with each other

The Problems of Religious Faith James Patrick Mackey, 1972

Human rights in culturally diverse societies Council of Europe, 2016-08-16 This updated publication contains the Committee of Ministers guidelines to member States on the protection and promotion of human rights in culturally diverse societies as well as the Compilation of Council of Europe standards relating to the principles of freedom of thought conscience and religion and links to other human rights upon which the Guidelines are inspired These standards are based mainly on the European Convention on Human Rights and the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights but also on conclusions and recommendations of other monitoring mechanisms and other Council of Europe bodies The Guidelines are innovative as they do not consider these standards in isolation rather they rethink and recast them through their interaction with other human rights freedom of expression freedom of association and assembly the right to private life They are intended as a realistic and usable tool which reflects the often complex interplay of different rights within diverse societies

Military Medical Ethics, Volume 2, The Flight from Authority Jeffrey Stout, 1981 Jeffrey Stout argues that modern thought was born in a crisis of authority took shape in flight from authority and aspired to autonomy from all traditional influence The quest for autonomy was an attempt to begin completely anew As such it was bound to fail Stout traces the secularization of public discourse and its effect on the relation between theism and culture as well as the severance of morality from traditional moorings in favor of autonomy He is unabashedly historical in his approach defending the thesis that all thought is historically conditioned and that historical insight is essential to self understanding Each section of the book takes up a major problem in contemporary philosophy the nature of knowledge the rationality of religious belief the autonomy of morality and sets that problem against the background of early modern disputes over authority The result is simultaneously a critique of ahistorical biases a survey of major developments in modern thought and a normative treatment of the problems addressed The book culminates in the final section with an account of post Kantian concern with the autonomy of morals Morality attained relative independence as a form of discourse only in the modern period but the nature of this independence is distorted when construed in foundationalist or Kantian terms After criticizing methodological assumptions in recent moral philosophy and religious ethics Stout sketches his own account of the emergence of autonomy for morality stressing the need for substantial rethinking of the relationship between religion and ethics In a concluding chapter he places his own position in relation to the philosophical tradition descendant from Hegel The Review of Faith & International Affairs ,2006 Religion and Human Autonomy R.F. de Brabander,2012-12-06 For most of its career philosophy of religion has been a controversial discipline it has usually ended up becoming a substitute for what it set out to explain Born out of the religious scepticism of the late seventeenth century it remained for many years what it was to Hume and Lessing an instrument for criticizing rather than for interpreting faith Gradually the hostility subsided but not the tendency to reduce Nearly each one of the great names in this area represents a theory that goes beyond faith Phenomenology changed that situation Conceived for accurate understanding of acts and meanings rather than for the building of vast syntheses its method was more apt to yield understanding than criticism Moreover by distinguishing the ideal meanings from the psychic realities of the act it chased its followers from the quagmire of psychic genesis causal justification and rational proof of the religious object and forced them to concentrate on the intentional terminus of the experience Politics and Religion William A. Ritchie,1991 California. Court of Appeal (2nd Appellate District). Records and Briefs California (State)., Received document entitled APPENDIX TO PETITION FOR WRIT Foundations of Faith John Emory Godbey,1903 Harvard Law Review ,1987
