account of the employment promises made to local East Londoners when the Summer Olympic Games 2012 were awarded to London as well as an examination of how those promises had morphed into the Olympic Labor market jamboree from which local communities were excluded Regarding the global job market of London this study provides a nuanced empirical view on how the world's biggest mega event was experienced and endured in terms employment by its immediate hosts in one of the UK's poorest most ethnically complex and transient areas The data has been collected through ethnographic observation and interviews with local residents and expert interviews with the Olympic delivery professionals Using Bourdieusian theory of contested capital the findings provide an important bearing on the reproduction of inequality in the local labor markets of Olympic host cities
