Concepts And Categories:

Knowledge Concepts and Categories Koen Lamberts, 2013-10-28 Knowledge Concepts and Categories brings together an overview of recent research on concepts and knowledge that abstracts across a variety of specific fields of cognitive psychology Readers will find data from many different areas developmental psychology formal modelling neuropsychology connectionism philosophy and so on The book can be divided into three parts Chapters 1 to 5 each contain a thorough and systematic review of a significant aspect of research on concepts and categories Chapters 6 to 9 are concerned primarily with issues related to the taxonomy of human knowledge Finally Chapters 10 to 12 discuss formal models of categorization and function learning The purpose of these three chapters is to provide a few examples of current formal modelling of conceptual behaviour Knowledge Concepts and Categories will be welcomed by students and researchers in cognitive psychology and related areas as an unusually wide ranging and authoritative review of an important subfield of psychology

Categories and Concepts Edward E. Smith, Douglas L. Medin, 2013-10-01 Concepts and Categories Michael T. Hannan, Gaël Le Mens, Greta Hsu, Balázs Kovács, Giacomo Negro, László Pólos, Elizabeth Pontikes, Amanda J. Sharkey, 2019-08-13 Why do people like books music or movies that adhere consistently to genre conventions Why is it hard for politicians to take positions that cross ideological boundaries Why do we have dramatically different expectations of companies that are categorized as social media platforms as opposed to news media sites The answers to these questions require an understanding of how people use basic concepts in their everyday lives to give meaning to objects other people and social situations and actions In this book a team of sociologists presents a groundbreaking model of concepts and categorization that can guide sociological and cultural analysis of a wide variety of social situations Drawing on research in various fields including cognitive science computational linguistics and psychology the book develops an innovative view of concepts It argues that concepts have meanings that are probabilistic rather than sharp occupying fuzzy overlapping positions in a conceptual space Measurements of distances in this space reveal our mental representations of categories Using this model important yet commonplace phenomena such as our routine buying decisions can be quantified in terms of the cognitive distance between concepts Concepts and Categories provides an essential set of formal theoretical tools and illustrates their application using an eclectic set of methodologies from micro level controlled experiments to macro level language processing It illuminates how explicit attention to concepts and categories can give us a new understanding of everyday situations and interactions Percepts, Concepts and Categories B. Burns, 1992-10-09 The most important distinction derived from the computational view of thought is between structures and processes So proclaimed Farah and Kosslyn in 1982 arguing that structures and processes cannot be examined in isolation and concluding that converging operations are required to isolate the structure process pair that can explain a particular finding The distinction between structure and process within the study of percepts concepts and categories is considered in depth in this volume with penetrating commentaries by fellow authors concluding each chapter This interesting format achieves a broad coverage of the various aspects and implications of the structure process distinction It affords a salient indication of the diversity of positions as to the description and utility of distinguishing structures and processors At the same time it reveals that researchers specializing in areas of study ranging from simple structure and process involved in perceptual organization and texture to complex structure and process associated with reading graphs and chess expertise do utilize such a distinction in similar ways The analysis is organized into four major parts within the book Early Visual Representation and Processing Percepts Concepts Categories and Development Categories Concepts and Learning and Higher Order Representation and Processing

Deconstructing Durkheim Jennifer M. Lehmann, 2013-10-08 The author analyzes Durkheim's social theory from the standpoint of critical structuralism She explores Durkheim's discussion of the relationship between the individual and society She also addresses the question of Durkheim's understanding of the relationship between the subject and object of knowledge and the relationship between truth and ideology

Biology, History, and Natural Philosophy A. D. Breck, 2012-12-06 In a world that peers over the brink of disaster more often than not it is difficult to find specific assignments for the scholarly community One speaks of peace and brotherhood only to realize that for many the only real hope of making a contribution may seem to be in a field of scientific specialization seemingly irrelevant to social causes and problems Yet the history of man since the beginnings of science in the days of the Greeks does not support this gloomy thesis Time and again we have seen science precipitate social trends or changes in the humanistic beliefs that have a significant effect on the scientific community Not infrequently the theoretical scientist triggered by society's changing goals and understandings finds ultimate satisfaction in the work of his colleagues in engineering and the other applied fields Thus the major debate in mid nineteenth century in which the evidence of natural history and geology at variance with the Biblical feats provided not only courage to a timid Darwin but the kind of audience that was needed to fit his theories into the broad public dialogue on these topics The impact of Darwinism was felt far beyond the scientific community It affected social thought upset religious certainties and greatly affected the teaching of science
