Our Future Earth Curt Stager, 2011 Paleoclimatologist Curt Stager vividly describes how the decisions we make about the environment in the 21st century will affect the next 100 000 years of life on this planet and how today s environmental debate is missing the long term evidence By considering the Earth s history over millions of years this book changes our understanding Most people accept that our planet is warming and that humans played the key role in causing it We worry about the next few hundred years yet miss its long term magnitude So what will the world look like Curt Stager draws on geological history to show that the greatest threat to humans will not be global warming but global cooling When that hot backlash eventually happens is entirely up to us We have already put off the next Ice Age but whether our descendants will see an ice free Arctic miles of submerged coasts or an acidified ocean can still be decided Whether we continue to pollute or rein ourselves in for the sake of future generations the world will be vastly different This lucid book will force climate sceptics activists and everyone in between think again about our future earth Official Year Book South Australia,1913 Bulletin of the University of New Mexico ,1929 Annual Report of the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, with a Record of the Annual Meeting Held at ... Wisconsin Dairymen's Association,1878 Michigan and the Centennial Stephen Bromley McCracken,1876 The Desert Farmer ,1909
