Local Meanings, Global Schooling K. Anderson-Levitt,2003-05-01 Is there one global culture of schooling or many national and local cultures Do educational reforms take school systems on diverging or parallel paths These case studies from five continents use ethnography and history to challenge the sweeping claims of sociology s world culture theory neo institutionalism They demonstrate how national ministries of education and local schools re invent every reform Yet the cases also show that teachers and local reformers operate within and against global models Anthropologists need to recognize the global presence in local schooling as well as local transformation of global models This is a collection that scholars in the field of the anthropology of education will not want to be without

Achieving Education for All through Public-Private Partnerships? Pauline Rose,2013-09-13 Concern for achieving Millennium Development Goals MDGs by 2015 has led to a focus on the role that non state providers NSPs can offer in extending access and improving quality of basic services While NSPs can help to fill a gap in provision to those excluded from state provision recent growth in both for profit and not for profit providers in developing countries has sometimes resulted in fragmentation of service delivery To address this attention is increasingly given in the education sector to developing partnerships between governments and NSPs Partnerships are further driven by the expectation that the state has the moral social and legal responsibility for overall education service delivery and so should play a role in facilitating and regulating NSPs Even where the ultimate aim of both non state providers and the state is to provide education of acceptable quality to all children this book provides evidence from diverse contexts across Africa South Asia and Latin America to highlight the challenges in them partnering to achieve this This book was published as a special issue of Development in Practice
