VANDEWALLE BARTON (JOHN. DOYLE, PETER.), 2026 The Battle of Messines 1917 Craig Deayton, 2017-06-05 On 7 June 1917 the British Second Army launched its attack on Messines Ridge detonating 19 giant mines beneath the German front line positions By the end of the day one of the strongest positions on the Western Front had fallen a place of such importance that the Germans had pledged to hold it at any cost It was the greatest British victory in three years of war The first two years of the First World War had represented an almost unending catalogue of disaster for the Australians Messines was not only their first real victory it was also the first test in senior command for Major General John Monash who commanded the newly formed 3rd Division and would later be hailed as Australia s greatest soldier Messines was a baptism of fire for the 3rd Division which came into the line alongside the battle scarred 4th Australian Division badly mauled at Bullecourt just six weeks earlier in one of the worst defeats of the war The fighting at Messines would descend into unimaginable savagery a lethal and sometimes hand to hand affair of bayonets clubs bombs and incessant machine gun fire described by one Australian as 72 hours of Hell After their string of bloody defeats over 1915 and 1916 Messines would be the ultimate test for the Australians

Earth Matters Richard Bardgett,2016-01-28 For much of history soil has played a major and often central role in the lives of humans Entire societies have risen and collapsed through the management or mismanagement of soil farmers and gardeners worldwide nurture their soil to provide their plants with water nutrients and protection from pests and diseases major battles have been aborted or stalled by the condition of soil murder trials have been solved with evidence from the soil and for most of us our ultimate fate is the soil In this book Richard Bardgett discusses soil and the many and sometimes surprising ways that humanity has depended on it throughout history and still does today Analysing the role soil plays in our own lives despite increasing urbanization and in the biogeochemical cycles that allow the planet to function effectively Bardgett considers how superior soil management could combat global issues such as climate change food shortages and the extinction of species Looking to the future Bardgett argues that it is vital for the future of humanity for governments worldwide to halt soil degradation and to put in place policies for the future sustainable management of soils

Flanders 1915 Jon Cooksey,2005 Flanders 1915 written by Jon Cooksey provides a unique and intimate portrait of a British Army unit in the front line trenches of Flanders in 1915 Commitment and Sacrifice Marilyn Shevin-Coetzee,Frans Coetzee,2015-07-01 For years those who attempted to understand the devastation of World War I looked to the collections of diplomatic documents the stirring speeches and the partisan memoirs of the leading participants However those accounts offered little by way of the intimate history or the individual experiences of those involved in the Great War In Commitment and Sacrifice Marilyn Shevin Coetzee and Frans Coetzee provide just such an intimate look by bringing together previously unpublished diaries of five participants in the First World War and restoring to publication the diary of a sixth that has long been out of print The six diaries address the war on the Western front and the Mediterranean as well as behind the lines on the home front Together these diarists form a diverse group John French a British sapper who dug precarious tunnels beneath the trenches of the Western Front Henri Desagneaux a French infantry officer embroiled in years of bloody combat Philip T Cate an idealistic American volunteer ambulance driver who sought to save lives rather than take them Willy Wolff a German businessman caught in England upon the war s outbreak and interned there for the duration James Douglas Hutchison a New Zealand artilleryman fighting thousands of miles from home and Felix Kaufmann a German machine gunner captured and held as a prisoner of war Through the personal reflections of these young men we are transported into many of the iconic episodes of the war from the upheaval of mobilization through the great battles of Gallipoli Verdun and the Somme as well as the less familiar other ordeal of internment and captivity As members of the so called Generation of 1914 each was between nineteen and twenty four years old they shared an unwavering commitment to their countries cause and possessed a steadfast determination to persevere despite often appalling circumstances Collectively these diaries illuminate the sacrifices of war whether willingly volunteered or stoically endured That the diarists had the desire and the ingenuity to record their experiences whether for their families posterity or simply their own personal satisfaction gives readers the ability to eavesdrop on horrors long past A century later we are fortunate that they were both willing and able to set pencil to paper

Come On Australia Lewis Frederickson,Victor Nurcombe,2025-09-30 One man s bravery A generation s legacy Lieutenant Colonel Terence Patrick McSharry CMG DSO MC was one of the Australian Imperial Force s most respected battalion commanders a man whose service sacrifice and leadership stand as a shining example of the AIF's enduring values. From the brutal slopes of Gallipoli to the decisive battles of Bullecourt, Passchendaele and Hamel, McSharry's wartime experience spanned almost the entire duration of the Great War. He was among the first Australian officers to receive the Military Cross for gallantry, rising rapidly through the ranks to command the 15th Battalion with distinction. Tireless, courageous and deeply respected by his men, McSharry embodied values-based leadership at every level of command, from subaltern to lieutenant colonel. Despite his extraordinary career, his story has never been told until now. Come on Australia fills that long-standing gap while also highlighting the broader absence of detailed studies on AIF battalion commanders. It places McSharry among the finest of his peers, offering a deeply researched and humanising portrait of a man who led by example and died as he lived, attempting to rescue a wounded soldier under fire. This is more than just a military biography; it is an exploration of character, of how excellence is built through habit and upheld through adversity. McSharry's life offers modern readers, military professionals and history enthusiasts an enduring lesson that courage, compassion and competence are as relevant today as they were more than a century ago. Terence McSharry's shows how one man's leadership can shape a force, his legacy still underpins Australia's role in coalition warfare today. An inspiring true story of courage, sacrifice and leadership on the battlefields of World War One. A powerful account of how AIF leadership, discipline and innovation shaped Australia's enduring military legacy.

The Archaeology of Destruction Lila Rakoczy, 2008. Buildings and landscapes are traditionally analysed with their construction and use in mind, with less interest shown in their destruction or end. This innovative book canvassing the opinions of historians, archaeologists and other professionals highlights the complexity of destruction, both as a concept and a phenomenon. Drawing from a variety of time periods and cultures, it explores the multiplicity of meanings that destruction can have and the many complications this creates. Included in this are the politics behind how destruction is remembered or forgotten, the logistical and ethical dilemmas it presents us with, and the power tensions and transitions that often accompany it. One of the most fundamental themes explored in this book is what destruction is, who defines it and how we choose to recognise it and why these questions need to be debated. It clearly demonstrates the importance of understanding the complexity of destructive acts and argues that the best way to achieve this is by establishing channels of dialogue between archaeologists and other disciplines.
