Words from the Ancestors, Poems for the Modern Viking Dano Hammer, 2012-01-13 Words from the Ancestors in paperback more than a simple anthology is a poetic expression of a world view a philosophy and a way of life that all at once honour the past acknowledge the present and embrace the future With highly distilled alliterative form rich in symbolism and allegory this volume embodies decades of learning and contemplation of the indigenous cultures of ancient Europe Rooted in the land and within the ancient cultures yet full of insight still every bit as much applicable to life in the modern day and by which even to inspire future generations Dano Hammer's poetry expresses an ancient and timeless wisdom alongside a boundless hope for the future Dano Hammer is a writer poet singer and rapper musician artist and craftsman living on Salt Spring Island in British Columbia Canada

From Caligula to the Nazis John M. McManamon, 2023-12-14 The saga of Caligula's barges sunk in Lake Nemi south of Rome how the huge vessels came to be there in the first place why they became a cause célèbre for Mussolini's Fascist regime how they were after multiple attempts recovered from the lake bed and why they were shortly thereafter destroyed is in the words of author John McManamon a good story that is worth telling It has memorable characters twists and turns in the plot no lack of conflict and tension and a dramatic ending where something clearly went wrong In From Caligula to the Nazis: The Nemi Ships in Diana's Sanctuary McManamon takes readers on an excursion through history to the fiery ending of the tale a journey propelled by narrative energy and enhanced by the fruits of careful research Related topics include Roman mythology and state religion the erratic reign of the infamous Caligula underwater archaeology as practiced during the Renaissance the ideological exploitation of archaeology by Il Duce and his fascist followers and a historical whodunit to ascertain the choices that led to the arson of the ship remains McManamon covers every chapter in the 2 000 year history of the ships and does not ignore the mistaken interpretations that at times led subsequent researchers into blind alleys In the end From Caligula to the Nazis provides for both academic specialists and informed general readers the careful unwinding of a centuries long mystery

Dickens Hard Times Beowulf and Oscar Wilde's The Picture of Dorian Gray The Bayeux Tapestry Gale R. Owen-Crocker, 2023-05-31 This collection of fifteen papers ranges from the author's initial interest in the Tapestry as a source of information on early medieval dress through to her startling recognition of the embroidery's sophisticated narrative structure. Developing the work of previous authors who had identified graphic models for some of the images, she argues that not just the images themselves but the contexts from which they were drawn should be taken into account in reading the messages of the Tapestry. In further investigating the minds and hands behind this the largest non-architectural artefact surviving from the Middle Ages, she ranges over the seams, the embroidery stitches, the language and artistry of the inscription, the potential significance of borders and the gestures of the figures in the main register, always scrutinising detail informatively. She identifies an over-riding conception and house style in the Tapestry but also sees different hands at work in both needlecraft and graphics. Most intriguingly, she recognises a sub-contractor with a Roman source and a clownish wit. The author is Professor of Anglo-Saxon Culture at The University of Manchester, UK, a specialist in Old English poetry, Anglo-Saxon material culture and medieval dress and textiles.

Jane Austen's Northanger Abbey Jane Austen, 2005 This edition places Jane Austen and Northanger Abbey in the major conversations of Romanticism, not just the gothic novel and female education. It places the novel in two contexts: 1798 when it was written and 1818 when it was published, illustrating its relevance to both periods and the major writers, especially the poets.

Mary Wollstonecraft's A Vindication of the Rights of Woman Mary Wollstonecraft, 2007 From Longman's Cultural Editions series, Wollstonecraft edited by Anne K Mellor and Noelle Chao for the first time pairs Wollstonecraft's feminist tract, the first in English letters, A Vindication of the Rights of Woman with her unfinished novel The Wrongs of Woman or Maria. By putting tract and novel together, this text presents a far richer and more complex discussion of Wollstonecraft's political and literary opinions. A wealth of cultural contexts bearing on the wrongs of woman, their social and political oppression in the 18th century and on the development of the Gothic and realist novel further clarify these two texts. Handsomely produced and affordably priced, the Longman Cultural Editions series presents classic works in provocative and illuminating contexts, cultural, critical and literary. Each Cultural Edition consists of the complete text of an important literary work, reliably edited, headed by an inviting introduction and supplemented by helpful annotations, a table of dates to track its composition, publication and public reception in relation to biographical, cultural and historical events, and a guide for further inquiry and study.

The Barbarian North in Medieval Imagination Robert Rix, 2014-11-13 This book examines the sustained interest in legends of the pagan and peripheral North, tracing and analyzing the use of an out-of-Scandinavia legend, Scandinavia as an ancestral homeland, in a wide range of medieval texts from all over Europe, with a focus on the Anglo-Saxon tradition. The pagan North was an imaginative region which attracted a number of conflicting interpretations. To Christian Europe, the pagan North was an abject Other, but it also symbolized a place from which ancestral strength and energy derived Rix maps how these discourses informed national legends of ancestral origins showing how an out of Scandinavia legend can be found in works by several familiar writers including Jordanes Bede Fredegar Paul the Deacon Freculph and thelweard The book investigates how legends of northern warriors were first created in classical texts and since re calibrated to fit different medieval understandings of identity and ethnicity Among other things the out of Scandinavia tale was exploited to promote a legacy of barbarian vigor that could withstand the negative cultural effects of Roman civilization This volume employs a variety of perspectives cutting across the disciplines of poetry history rhetoric linguistics and archaeology After years of intense critical interest in medieval attitudes towards the classical world Africa and the East this first book length study of the North will inspire new debates and repositionings in medieval studies Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature Modern Humanities Research Association,2004 Includes both books and articles
