Oliver D. Crisp, Michael C. Rea, 2009-02-13 Philosophy in the English speaking world is dominated by analytic approaches to its problems and projects but theology has been dominated by alternative approaches Many would say that the current state in theology is not mere historical accident but is rather how things ought to be On the other hand many others would say precisely the opposite that theology as a discipline has been beguiled and taken captive by continental approaches and that the effects on the discipline have been largely deleterious The methodological divide between systematic theologians and analytic philosophers of religion is ripe for exploration The present volume represents an attempt to begin a much needed interdisciplinary conversation about the value of analytic philosophical approaches to theological topics Most of the essays herein are sympathetic toward the enterprise the editors are calling analytic theology but with an eye toward balance the volume also includes essays and an introduction that try to offer more critical perspectives on analytic theology

An Analytical Philosophy of Religion Willem Frederik Zuurdeeg, 2013-05-02 This original study published initially in 1959 introduces students of philosophy and of theology to a treatment of religion based upon the methods of modern philosophy particularly logical empiricism and existentialism Above and beyond the importance of its point of view this book is distinguished by its clarity and by its objective and understanding presentation of diverse points of view

Hofmeister,2012-12-06 The task of the following considerations is the elucidation of the relationship of religion to thought Every philosophical investigation with this task proceeds under the expectation that it will take into account religious self understanding Herein lies the special difficulty of a philosophical theory of religion On the one hand the philosopher of religion may not assume this self understanding in order to avoid offering a religious theory a theology instead of the philosophical theory expected from him On the other hand he cannot by pass religious self understanding because this is the key to insight into the uniqueness of religious discourse Without knowledge of this uniqueness it is impossible to indicate the conditions under which religious statements lead to the question of truth Even if religion cannot prescribe to philosophical investigation whose methods the latter must apply to examine its object it may in addition require that the standard by which it is measured be suited to grasp those special characteristics which mark it as different from other realms of life Therefore it may be required of the philosophical interpretation that the question of the legitimacy and validity of religious self understanding be treated from the very beginning as an open one and not as one already decided If this question is rashly decided in the negative then all analysis of religious propositions is necessarily done along the guidelines of a method that in its foundation masks of the religious thematic
