Can Asians Think:

Can Asians Think of Peace? Kishore Mahbubani, Varigonda Kesava Chandra, Kristen Tang, 2025-07-12 This open access book explores the shifting dynamics of global power highlighting Asia's resurgence. For centuries before the Western colonial era, China and India dominated the world economy. Now Asia is reclaiming its historical prominence. China presents a formidable challenge to American power while India is on track to become the world's third largest economy by 2030. The 21st century is poised to be the Asian century, but will this rise be peaceful or will it lead to catastrophic conflicts? Kishore Mahbubani, head and founder of the Asian Peace Programme (APP) at the National University of Singapore, offers a collection of 61 essays on peace in Asia, co-edited by Dr. Varigonda Kesava Chandra and Kristen Tang. Written by scholars and practitioners from both Asia and the West between July 2020 and December 2024, these essays analyze potential flashpoints in Asia and propose pragmatic, implementable ideas for conflict management and peacebuilding. Topics include managing the US-China relationship, stabilizing India-Pakistan and China-India border conflicts, strengthening relations among Southeast Asian countries, and addressing global threats such as nuclear war and climate change. Mr. Mahbubani also provides a sharp introduction contextualizing the conflict management and peacebuilding processes of the Asian 21st century.

Can Asians Think? Kishore Mahbubani, 2009. Can Asians think? Is Western civilization universal? Does the West promote human rights for altruistic reasons? These are some questions Kishore Mahbubani has sought to answer in this volume of essays written over the past decade. Contrary to the prevailing view in the West that the 500-year dominance of Western civilization points to it being the only universal civilization, Can Asians Think? argues that other civilizations may yet make equal contributions to the development and growth of mankind. Hailed as an Asian Toynbee and the Max Weber of the new Confucian ethic, Mahbubani continues to illuminate his central arguments with new essays in this fourth edition.

Can Asians Think? Kishore Mahbubani, 2002. Poses questions about the relationship between Eastern and Western cultures, the future of Asian societies, and the effects of globalization.

20 Years of Can Asians Think? Kishore Mahbubani, 2018. It has been 20 years since Kishore Mahbubani first took the bold step of asking the politically incorrect question Can Asians Think? His collection of essays has stood the test of time, continuing to resonate with both Asian and Western minds alike over two decades and four editions of the book. This new commemorative edition comes 9 years after the publication of the fourth edition in 2009.

Can Non-Europeans Think? Hamid Dabashi, 2015-04-30. In Can Non-Europeans Think? Dabashi takes his subtle but vigorous polemic to another level. Pankaj Mishra: What happens to thinkers who operate outside the European philosophical pedigree? In this powerfully honed polemic, Hamid Dabashi argues that they are invariably marginalised, patronised, and misrepresented. Challenging, pugnacious, and stylish, Can Non-Europeans Think? forges a new perspective in postcolonial theory by examining how intellectual debate continues to reinforce a colonial regime of knowledge, albeit in a new guise. Based on years of scholarship and activism, this insightful collection of philosophical explorations is certain to unsettle and
