Cancer And Consciousness:

Cancer and Consciousness Barry Bryant,1990 Consciousness and Intentionality: Models and Modalities of Attribution D. Fisette,2013-03-14 Philosophy of mind has been one of the most active fields in philosophy for the past three decades One of the most significant factors in the development of this discipline has been the emergence of cognitive science and the interest philosophers have taken in the empirical study of mind Another equally important factor has been the naturalistic turn brought about by W V Quine His proposal that normative epistemology be replaced by empirical psychology marked a radical departure from the Fregean anti psychologism and apriorism that had characterized much of the analytic tradition in philosophy But while Quine's program of naturalization called the attention of philosophers to empirical psychology his conception of psychology was inspired by an austere behaviorism which shunned the mentalism of intentional psychology in the Brentanian and phenomenological tradition Thus while agreeing with Brentano that the intentional idiom could not be reduced to that of the natural sciences Quine argued that it is of a piece with the indeterminacy of translation Most contributors of this collection share the cognitivist stance and believe that the mind needs to be explained rather than eliminated Three main questions are actually confronting current philosophers of mind each addressed by one or another of the contributors to the present collection

The Nature of Consciousness Mark Rowlands,2001-10-11 In The Nature of Consciousness Mark Rowlands develops an innovative account of the nature of phenomenal consciousness one that has significant consequences for attempts to find a place for it in the natural order The most significant feature of consciousness is its dual nature consciousness can be both the directing of awareness and that upon which awareness is directed Rowlands offers a clear and philosophically insightful discussion of the main positions in this fast moving debate and argues that the phenomenal aspects of conscious experience are aspects that exist only in the directing of experience towards non phenomenal objects a theory that undermines reductive attempts to explain consciousness in terms of what is not conscious His book will be of interest to a wide range of readers in the philosophy of mind and language psychology and cognitive science

Kriegel,Kenneth Williford,2006 Leading theorists examine the self representational theory of consciousness as an alternative to the two dominant reductive theories of consciousness the representational theory of consciousness and the higher order monitoring theory In this pioneering collection of essays leading theorists examine the self representational theory of consciousness which holds that consciousness always involves some form of self awareness The self representational theory of consciousness stands as an alternative to the two dominant reductive theories of consciousness the representational theory of consciousness RTC and the higher order monitoring HOM theory combining elements of both RTC and HOM theory in a novel fashion that may avoid the fundamental deficiencies of each Although self representationalist views have been common throughout the history of both Western and Eastern philosophy they have been largely neglected in the recent literature on consciousness This book approaches the self representational theory from a range of perspectives with contributions from scholars in analytic philosophy phenomenology and history of philosophy as well as two longer essays by Antonio Damasio and David Rudrauf and Douglas Hofstadter The book opens with six essays that argue broadly in favor of self representationalist views which are followed by five that argue broadly against them Contributors next consider connections to such philosophical issues as the nature of propositional attitudes knowledge attention and indexical reference Finally Damasio and Rudrauf link consciousness as lived with consciousness as described in neurobiological terms and Hofstadter compares consciousness to the strange loop of mathematical self reference brought to light by G del s incompleteness theorems Contributors Andrew Brook Peter Carruthers Antonio Damasio John J Drummond Jason Ford Rocco
