civilization and perhaps more important also shaped our philosophical view of what is a human being Since the basis of this scientific revolution was reason logic measurement and total reliance upon the organized senses the resultant view of the person is that of an automaton functioning in a clockwork world The power of this view is evident in the advances made in medical science up until the 1950s The twin triumphs of sanitation and preventive medicine and the development of the antibiotic concept completely revolutionized the practice of medicine and by 1950 those of us in the profession were anticipating a new golden age of medicine But in fact the reality has been disaster The mechanistic view of humanity has led to more and more technological applications of ever increasing complexity and cost and ever decreasing efficiency
