Screening Ulster Richard Gallagher,2023-03-03 This book presents extensive research into the cinematic representation of the British identifying Protestant unionist and loyalist community in Northern Ireland and is the first time such comprehensive analysis has been produced Gallagher s research traces the history of the community s representation in cinema from the emergence of depictions of both nationalist and unionist communities in social realist dramas in 1980s British and Irish cinema to today through periods such as those focused on violent paramilitaries in the 1990s and irreverent comedy after the Northern Ireland peace process The book addresses the perception that the Irish nationalist community has been depicted more frequently and favourably than unionism in films about the period of conflict known as The Troubles. Often argued to be the result of an Irish nationalist bias within Hollywood, Gallagher argues that there are other inherent and systemic reasons for this cinematic deficit. The Media and the Tourist Imagination David Crouch, Rhona Jackson, Felix Thompson, 2005-06-15.

Tourism studies and media studies both address key issues about how we perceive the world. They raise acute questions about how we relate local knowledge and immediate experience to wider global processes and they both play a major role in creating our map of national and international cultures. Adopting a multidisciplinary approach, this book explores the interactions between tourism and media practices within a contemporary culture in which the consumption of images has become increasingly significant. A number of common themes and concerns arise and the contributions included are divided between those written from a media studies awareness perspective concerned with the way the media imagines travel and tourism, written from the point of view of the study of tourism considering how tourism practices are affected or altered by the media, that attempt a direct comparison between the practices of tourism and the media. Incorporating case study material from the UK, the Caribbean, Australia, the US, France, and Switzerland, this significant text is ideal for students of culture, media, and tourism studies. It discusses tourism and the media as separate processes through which identity is constructed in relation to space and place. Omnibus, 1998.
