Crime Sans Frontieres:

Crime Sans Frontières Christopher Belton,1997-01-01 Responding to International Crime Geoff Gilbert,2006

Following the wars in the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda and the events of 11 September 2001 awareness of international crimes has come to the forefront of public consciousness The very public responses seen in the establishment by the Security Council of the ad hoc tribunals and the international community coming together to create the International Criminal Court have done much to promote the idea that there should be no impunity for international criminals Nevertheless while those are incredibly significant steps in the attempt to combat international crime there is no way due to their jurisdictional competence that such bodies could ever hope to address all the various crimes that are committed that are not confined to a single domestic jurisdiction either by reason of their nature or trans border factors As such the response of the international community to international crime depends as much on extraterritorial criminal jurisdiction mutual legal assistance agreements extradition and other means of lawful rendition Furthermore given the fundamental rule that a person is innocent until proven guilty and that everyone within the jurisdiction of a State is owed certain basic minimum human rights guarantees responses to international crime cannot be without limitation Respect for the alleged transnational fugitive offender is as important a factor in responding to international crime as preventing impunity for genocide crimes against humanity war crimes and gross human rights violations

Terrorism David Lowe,2018-03-09 Terrorism Law and Policy provides a comprehensive socio legal analysis of issues related to terrorist activity Aimed at both undergraduate and postgraduate students the book takes a comparative approach to the law related to terrorism in a number of states mainly those in Europe North America Australia and New Zealand Beginning with an examination of the background to various currently active terrorist groups the book focuses on those groups which are currently active and which pose a threat to security especially at the international level The chapters take the reader through the legal definitions of terrorism contained in various states statutory provisions and examine how the courts have interpreted terrorism in those states jurisdictions The main aim of any terrorist investigation is prevention and so the book examines the various statutory preventative measures that states have introduced and explores the legal issues surrounding surveillance terrorism intelligence exchange radicalisation use of social media quasi criminal provisions asset freezing and the nexus between terrorist activity and organised crime Bringing together a number of themes related to terrorism and security from a uniquely legal perspective this book builds a comparative picture of the legal counter terrorism interventions states are adopting to increase co operation and adopt a more united approach in the face of the international terrorism threat

Terrorism, Law and Policy David Lowe,2022-04-25 Terrorism Law and Policy A Comparative Study is a textbook offering a comparative study of the terrorism related legislation policy and practice introduced from international governmental bodies such as the UN and the European Union and individual states with a focus on Australia Canada New Zealand the UK and the US It offers a uniquely legal perspective on key themes relating to terrorism and security This new edition is brought fully up to date with the ever changing developments in terrorist activity as well as in states approaches to anti terrorism legislation and policy It includes new chapters on the far right and extreme far right cause one on offering a comparative study of the anti terrorism policies of states and international bodies and the role of international and national counter terrorism agencies planning and preparing acts of terrorism and a new chapter on freedom of expression hate crime and proscribing groups as terrorist organisations Terrorism Law and Policy A Comparative Study is ideally suited for terrorism and security modules at undergraduate and postgraduate levels and will also be of interest to practitioners working on the legal aspects of these areas

Making Aggression a Crime Under Domestic Law Annegret Hartig,2023-03-13 This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the legal questions that arise for the legislative branch when implementing the crime of aggression into domestic law Despite being the supreme international crime that gave birth to international criminal law in Nuremberg its ICC Statute definition has been incorporated into domestic law by fewer than 20 States The crime of aggression was also omitted in the rich debate held among German scholars in the early 2000s regarding the legislative implementation of other ICC Statute crimes The current inability of the International Criminal Court to respond to the Russian aggression towards Ukraine invites the continuation of these academic debates without neglecting the particularities of the crime of aggression The fundamental issues discussed in this volume include the obligation to criminalize aggression the core wrong of the crime the normative gaps under domestic law and the jurisdictional gaps under the ICC Statute To facilitate the operationalization of domestic implementation the book explores the technical options for incorporating the definition into domestic law the geographical ambit of domestic jurisdiction most notably universal jurisdiction as well as legal challenges such as immunities The book is aimed primarily at researchers and States with an interest in the domestic implementation of international criminal law but those already working in the field should also find much of interest contained within it Dr Annegret Hartig is Program Director of the Global Institute for the Prevention of Aggression and worked as a researcher at the University of Hamburg where she obtained her doctoral degree in international criminal law

Money Laundering Counter-measures in the European Union Valsamis Mitsilegas,2003-01-01 The past fifteen years witnessed the emergence globally of a plethora of legislative measures aimed at countering money laundering These developments have been inextricably linked with the growing international focus on newly perceived and or prioritised global security threats such as organised crime and terrorism with money laundering counter measures deemed essential to counter these threats Taking these developments into account this book examines in detail the evolution and content of money laundering counter measures in the European Union These measures constitute a new paradigm of security governance achieved through three principal methods criminalisation consisting in the emergence of new criminal offences responsabilisation consisting in the mobilisation of the private sector to co operate with the authorities in the fight against money laundering and the emphasis on the administration of knowledge through the establishment of new institutions the financial intelligence units with extensive powers to administer a wide range of information provided by the private sector This paradigm may pose significant challenges to fundamental legal principles and to well established social structures and the book attempts to address this balance This up to date analysis includes the provisions of the new EU money laundering Directive which was formally adopted in December 2001

Rethinking Corporate Crime James Gobert, Maurice Punch, 2003-03 Critiques the application of the current criminal law system to corporate wrongdoing and assesses the potential for legal control of corporate criminality

Crime Sans Frontières Peter J. Cullen, 1998 Crime Sans Frontieres International and European Legal Approaches

Prosecuting War Crimes and Genocide Howard Ball, 1999 Combining history politics and critical analysis he revisits the killing fields of Cambodia documents the three month Hutu machete genocide of about 800 000 Tutsi villagers in Rwanda and casts recent headlines from Kosovo in the light of these other conflicts

Wartime Rape Stefan Kirchner, 2008 Document from the year 2008 in the subject Law European and International Law Intellectual Properties Universit Paris Sorbonne Paris IV 81 entries in the bibliography language English abstract About 5 4 million people have been killed in the wars in the Democratic Republic of Congo D R C the former Zaire 45 000 die every month and hundreds of thousands of women have been raped here in recent years Wartime rapes are anything but new and have been employed not only to terrorize the population but also as weapon of genocide in Rwanda Bosnia and Darfur The Eastern Congolese provinces of North and South Kivu have been affected by particular gruesome acts of violence and thousands of victims suffer from rape induced fistulae ruptures of the walls which separate the victim s vagina from her rectum According to UN staff and doctors in the region all armed groups in the region are involved in rapes and despite the 2002 Pretoria Accord which put an official end to the war attacks and rapes continue to this very day Many survivors are forced out of their homes and their families abandoned and left to fend for themselves Therefore apart from medical treatment and psychological counseling there is a strong demand for justice But due to the weak position of women in Congolese society justice is much harder to get by than medical treatment Although the Congolese Penal Code and Military Penal Code penalize these crimes the reaction by the Congolese government to the atrocities remains insufficient making a solution based on Congolese criminal law unlikely The practical application of the D R C s domestic laws is found wanting and the law does not have the deterrent effect which is required to prevent future atrocities also due to the traditional position of women in Congolese society continues to be reflected in the law According to Art 448 of the D R C s family code a married woman has to obtain her husband s permission to bring a case to c Crime and Security Benjamin Jervis Goold,Lucia Zedner,2006 The articles in this volume reflect the range and variety of debates surrounding the issue of security The address the very concept of security and explore its origins in the literature of criminology They also examine the relationship between the provision of security as a fundamental justification of state power Dirty Money William C. Gilmore,2011 Anti money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism AML CFT continues to be a dynamic subject area Dirty money has again been revised and expanded to keep pace with international developments over recent years and this is the fourth edition Since the third edition all countries in the Financial Action Task Force FATF and MONEYVAL the Council of Europe s primary AML CFT monitoring arm have been subject to detailed evaluation under the 2003 FATF recommendations This edition explains how the interdependent network of global assessment bodies works to identify countries which pose threats to the global financial system The European Union s third directive has been brought into force since the last edition and its provisions are fully analysed This edition also explains how the most recent Council of Europe treaty in this area the Warsaw convention which came into force in 2008 can assist states to achieve more effective money laundering investigations and prosecutions as well as deterrent confiscation orders This book as with the previous editions is designed for a wide audience not only actors in national AML CFT systems in both the public and private sectors but also all those who simply wish to be better informed about how the international community continues to fight these truly global threats The Law of Armed Conflict Naval War College (U.S.),1998 Hong Kong 2013 Hong Kong Government Information Services Department,Hong Kong Special Administrative Region Government,2013
