Direct Reference From Language To Thought:

Direct Reference François Récanati, 1993-01-01 In this book Professor Recanati sets out to defend and systematize the much discussed theory of Direct Reference according to which the contribution made by a referential term e.g. a proper name or demonstrative to the proposition expressed by the sentence where it occurs is its reference To deal with the objections traditionally levelled against the theory he puts forward a general account of de re thoughts and their communication which blends insights from both the Fregean and the Russellian traditions In the second part of the book recent advances in pragmatics are presented and used to shed light on the referential attributive distinction with respect to both definite descriptions and indexicals and belief reports New treatments of some of the major topics in the philosophy of mind and language are offered along the way

Direct Reference Francois Recanati, 1997-08-15 This volume puts forward a distinct new theory of direct reference blending insights from both the Fregean and the Russellian traditions and fitting the general theory of language understanding used by those working on the pragmatics of natural language

Mental Files in Flux François Récanati, 2016 François Recanati has pioneered the mental file framework for thinking about concepts and how we refer to the world in thought and language He now explores what happens to mental files in a dynamic setting Recanati argues that communication involves interpersonal dynamic files

Singular Thought and Mental Files Rachel Goodman, James Genone, Nick Kroll, 2020 This volume brings together original works by leading scholars which aim to examine and evaluate the viability of the mental files framework for theorizing about singular thought

Modeling and Using Context Anind Dey, Boicho Kokinov, David Leake, Roy Turner, 2005-07-11 Context is of crucial importance for research and applications in many disciplines as evidenced by many workshops symposia seminars and conferences on specific aspects of context The International and Interdisciplinary Conference on Modeling and Using Context CONTEXT the oldest conference series focusing on context provides a unique interdisciplinary emphasis bringing together participants from a wide range of disciplines including artificial intelligence cognitive science computer science linguistics organizational science philosophy psychology ubiquitous computing and application areas such as medicine and law to discuss and report on context related research and projects Previous CONTEXT conferences were held in Rio de Janeiro Brazil 1997 Trento Italy 1999 LNCS 1688 Dundee UK 2001 LNCS 2116 and Palo Alto USA 2003 LNCS 2680 CONTEXT 2005 was held in Paris France during July 5-8 2005 There was a strong response to the CONTEXT 2005 Call for Papers with 120 submissions received A careful review process assessed all submissions with each paper first reviewed by the international Program Committee and then reviewer discussions were initiated as needed to assure that the final decisions carefully considered all aspects of each paper Reviews of submissions by the Program Chairs were supervised independently and anonymously to assure fair consideration of all work Out of the 120 submissions 23 were selected as full papers for oral presentation and 20 were selected as full papers for poster presentation These outstanding papers are presented in this proceedings

Naming and Believing G.W. Fitch, 1986-11-30 The relationship between thought language and the world is an intimate one When we have an idea or thought about the world and we wish to express that idea or thought to others we utter a sentence or make a statement If the statement correctly describes the world then it is true Moreover it seems as though our ability to have more complex or sophisticated thoughts about the world increases as the complexity of our language or our ability to use the language increases Understanding the complex relationship between language thought and the world is one of the central aims of philosophy This book is an attempt to increase our understanding of this complex relationship by focusing on certain philosophical issues that arise from our ability to refer to objects in the world though the use of language In particular it is an attempt to solve the puzzles of reference and belief that Frege and Russell presented within the context of a theory of direct reference for proper names

Contemporary Analytic and Linguistic Philosophies Elmer Daniel Klemke, E. D. Klemke, Heimir Geirsson, 2000 This new second edition of the popular college textbook offers the beginning philosophy student a comprehensive introduction to several aspects of one of the most influential schools of thought in the twentieth century Professor Klemke begins by pointing out the distinctions among the various types of analytic and linguistic philosophies while emphasizing that they all arose as a response to the formerly predominant school of absolute idealism After a prologue section containing a representative exposition of idealism by Josiah Royce the following sections show the radically new philosophical approach of the analytic school in its various guises realism and common sense G E Moore logical atomism Bertrand Russell logical positivism A J Ayer conceptual analysis Gilbert Ryle G E Moore John Wisdom logico metaphysical analysis Gustav Bergman W V Quine linguistic analysis J L Austin P F Strawson J R Searle and the recent development of new realism Saul Kripke Hilary Putnam Tyler Burge Richard N Boyd
