Artherogenesis And Aging:

Atherogenesis and Aging Sandra R. Bates, Edwin C. Gangloff, 2012-12-06 Age is a nonreversible risk factor for atherosclerosis The atherosclerotic process begins early in life progresses during the middle years and usually culminates in clinical disease towards the later years of the life span Since atherosclerosis is a multifactorial disease and many of the risk factors are time and age related it has been difficult to sort out intrinsic aging from environmental factors that operate over many years Furthermore the role of genetic factors remains unknown This workshop has produced much worthwhile information that is helping elucidate the impact of age on atherogenesis Important strides have been made in understanding the role of changes in the arterial wall and of lipoproteins platelets and monocyte derived macrophages in the disease process In parallel our understanding of the biology of aging has increased sufficiently so that these two areas of interest can now profitably intersect The proceedings of this successful workshop emphasize that there is much to be gained by continued interaction between those scientists interested in the biology of aging at all levels and those interested in the atherosclerotic process Hopefully we may eventually progress in our understanding and reach the stage when atherosclerosis will no longer be an inexorable concomitant of human aging Edwin L Bierman M D Contents Foreword V Contributors IX Participants in the Workshop XV Introduction and Statement of Research Recommendations Sandra R The Role of Aging in Atherosclerosis R.E. Tracy, 2013-03-09 The cover of this book summarizes the central features of the sequestration hypothesis Commonplace appearances seen in human coronary artery fat stained in paraffin sections by a new technique explained in Chapter Eleven are arranged to suggest pathways of evolution toward atheroma The hypothesis formulated and defended in the pages of this book is this Fibroplasia progresses upward in column a from Ia to 3a as a characteristic feature of aging This starts sooner and progresses faster in men than in women Numbers of SMCs remain essentially constant so that fibroplasia per SMC steadily increases The rise upward conveys an increasing propensity to sequester atherogenic lipids causing transition rightward into column b Sequestered extracellular lipid then attracts fatty streak elements especially foam cells and lymphocytes to propel the arterial site rightward into column c Frame 1c corresponds to the AHA Lesions Committee classification type IIb the progression resistant fatty streak arising directly without prior lipid sequestration this can progress to atheroma but slowly after much delay although extreme provocation can accelerate the process Such progression is rightward toward atheroma with thin cap not upward toward fibroplastic thickening Frame 2c corresponds to the AHA classification type Ha progression prone fatty streaks These readily evolve into atheroma again by horizontal progression

Arterial Aging and Age-Associated Arterial Diseases Mingyi Wang, Jiguang Wang, Gianfranco Pintus, Cuntai Zhang, 2019-01-24 The underlying mechanisms behind aging has long been a great scientific mystery that the biomedical research community has long studied In developed nations as the population grows older increases in life expectancy is increasingly limited by our relatively poor control of chronic aging associated diseases such as arterial aging Among age related conditions that negatively influence longevity Growing evidence demonstrates that arterial aging is fundamentally caused by a proinflammatory process that begins at birth and results in detrimental effects that affects every organ system Vascular aging is the leading risk factor for quintessential cardiovascular diseases such as hypertension and atherosclerosis With aging vascular walls develop a pro inflammatory and stressed microenvironment characterized by both an upregulation of pro inflammatory chemokines and cytokines as well as a down regulation anti inflammatory counterparts This chronic imbalance in inflammatory regulatory networks is the key driver of changes at the cellular and molecular level that result in hypertensive and atherosclerotic arterial Thus an intervention of proinflammation may be a viable therapeutic intervention to reduce morbidity and mortality from cardiovascular diseases In this eBook we aim to supply an updated overview of the physiological and biochemical mechanisms that affect inflammation and vascular aging We believe that this eBook will contribute to the understanding of the pathogenesis of many chronic or age related diseases as well as to their treatment with both current and new therapeutic approaches
