Tapie,Daniel Wade McClain,2015-11-01 Although scholars increasingly understand Scripture to contain political dimensions and implications the interpretation of Scripture is often marginalized in most scholarly discussions of political theology Reading Scripture as a Political Act takes a step toward remedying this situation by exploring some of the ways the church has read Scripture politically In particular this volume examines the political character of premodern and modern theologians readings of Scripture with attention to how their readings relate to or address political challenges in their particular social and historical settings The essays attempt to illuminate the ways that the theological interpretation of Scripture shaped the theopolitical imaginations of Augustine Basil of Caesarea Bonaventure Thomas Aquinas Bartolome de las Casas John Wesley Karl Barth Henri de Lubac and John Howard Yoder among others Several essays in the volume also take constructive steps and suggest how these models of reading Scripture can inform the contemporary task of reading Scripture in political contexts The volume covers the earliest Christian centuries to the late modern era and considers carefully the close coordination between Scripture theology and social and political concerns As a whole the collection provides a robust survey of Christian theopolitical interpretation of the Bible The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Practical Theology Bonnie J. steeped in Euro normativity Canadian scholars from Latino a Chinese Korean Indian Cree and AfriCaribbean backgrounds draw on their respective locations to articulate how their communities engage the Bible Together they show that ethnicity and cultural tradition enrich how different communities weave their life stories with the biblical text in hope of finding wisdom within it By focusing on questions rooted in their particular traditions these diverse hermeneutical engagements show narrative to be central to the interpretive task within diverse ethnocultural communities
