Art Journal New Series:

Japonisme in Britain Ayako Ono, 2013-11-05 Japan held a profound fascination for western artists in the latter half of the nineteenth century and the influence of Japonisme on western art was pervasive Paradoxically just as western artists were beginning to find inspiration in Japan and Japanese art Japan was opening to the western world and beginning a process of thorough modernisation some have said westernisation The mastery of western art was included in the programme This book examines the nineteenth century art world against this background and explores Japanese influences on four artists working in Britain in particular the American James McNeill Whistler the Australian Mortimer Menpes and the Glasgow boys George Henry and Edward Atkinson Hornel Japonisme in Britain is richly illustrated throughout The Athenæum ,1850 The Athenaeum ,1898 The Art Journal, New Series ,1871 Watson's Weekly Art Journal ,1869 Illustrated Catalogue of the Industry of All Nations ,1851 Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle ,1850 Supplementary Catalogue of the California State Library, General Department California State Library,1898 The Nation ,1881 Sir Rutherford Alcock Robert Morton, 2025-10-01 The son of a village doctor Rutherford Alcock trained in medicine and became a battlefield surgeon working in Portugal and Spain during the civil wars there in the 1830s In a major career shift he entered the consular service went to China and ended up as British Minister the equivalent of today's ambassador to Japan and then China This progression was unique indeed bizarre especially as every senior position he got was one he specifically said he did not want Nonetheless he was the man who commenced Britain's relations with Japan and introduced Japan's arts and crafts to the UK in addition to playing a central role in Britain's relationship with China He was no rampant imperialist and expressed ambivalence about Britain's position in East Asia as he contended with intractable issues like the opium trade and how to punish attacks on British interests without starting a war This book fills a major gap in the study of Japan's opening to the West from a British perspective as well as Britain's relationship with East Asia as a whole through the eyes of a brilliant but complicated and contradictory figure Publishers' circular and booksellers' record ,1898 Catalogue of the Library of the Patent Office Great Britain. Patent Office. Library,1898 Catalogue of the California State Library California State Library,1898 Book-prices Current ,1915 Norton's Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular ,1854 Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal ,1888 John Crerar Library [Anonymus AC10074978],1904 Bulletin of the Library Company of Philadelphia ,1890 Index Catalog of the Scranton Public Library Authors and Subjects, June 30, 1902 Scranton Public Library,1903 The Annual Literary Index ,1894
