

Testimony of witnesses in court

Memory gaps are filled and the questions are biased, leading, which means that we close with false elements and that is why the witnesses are not the so-called hard evidence in the case.

This cannot be the only evidence in the case.

Our memory is influenced by emotions

We want to meet the court or social requirements and we colorize it, but it is not a deliberate or negative procedure

Just being in court is stressful

As time passes, our memories fade but we feel confident with what we say and what we think we remember

Memory trace

We remember better events important for our life or full of clarity, e.g. the first times, but with time our memory is incomplete, unreliable

We also remember well the events that made us have certain consequences resulting from the decisions we made, we may not remember them at the beginning, but as we give emotional significance, we begin to strengthen the memory of this situation and its details

An extremely important aspect of emotions is shaping the relationship

Contempt, anger and shame have a negative effect on the relationship

Love and happiness have a correspondingly better influence

A positive mood or emotion supports remembering and we also judge others better

Giving judgments is making judgments what will I do now to make such a decision, we analyze the emotions we experience and what we know about the world

We focus on what a given person says, what a person looks like, what kind of environment we are in

We are more likely to trust a specialist when he is dressed and speaks the way we believe a specialist should

We believe more the person we trust, whom we like, for example, Mrs. Krysia, our neighbor

When we read arguments or messages in a cheerful or neutral voice, it is easier

Court Of Memory:

The Complete Court of Memory James McConkey, 2014-01-16 To the previous books of Court of Memory Crossroads The Stranger at the Crossroads and Stories from My Life with the Other Animals The Complete Court of Memory adds A Song of One's Own composed of narratives created from memory that have appeared in magazines but not collected until now From reviews of Court of Memory The genre in which McConkey does his writing has no name He invented it What McConkey does is to create meaning out of ordinary life he'll create what is not exactly a story but a pattern in time NOEL PERRIN USA Today The beauty and exceptional worth of Court of Memory an assemblage of autobiographical meditations by a novelist and short story writer is that it never ducks and runs James McConkey is aware that any moment of pure and authentic feeling is an opportunity provided it's held in custody a while for questioning A book that's consistently challenging Court of Memory should be marked must read BENJAMIN DE MOTT The New York Times Book Review Each chapter is a first person narrative that deals with a moment of particular importance in the life of writer and college teacher James McConkey tiny fragments of facts that combine to create a rich and shimmering mosaic of emotion This is a remarkable book rich quiet dense and honest a rare combination The Philadelphia Inquirer Part memoir part essay part story it takes up a scene in the present and illuminates it with moments from the past often the smaller moments that other writers tend to overlook One can pay no greater compliment to this book than to say it almost makes palpable a moment of revelation that McConkey felt on a snowy evening some 20 years ago DAVID GUY The Washington Post McConkey's mother over the lifetime span of this book evolves from heartbroken young wife to a peaceful woman approaching 100 a small and white haired child who has given up believing in Heaven ever since the astronauts found nothing up there but approaches her Nirvana all the same The divine recurs and recurs here even in its absence To escape is to belong to belong finally is to escape children furniture the stars a life all combine here brilliantly CAROLYN SEE Los Angeles Times Court of Memory is among the most convincing and moving autobiographies ever written because it reproduces the rhythms of the way we really think about our lives Newsday Every page of Mr McConkey's book has a fresh observation about the challenges and satisfaction of being human and humanistic Court of Memory is the most intrinsically American and one of the two or three best books I've read since Norman Maclean's A River Runs Through It HOWARD FRANK MOSHER This is a wonderful book McConkey makes of his own life a powerful thoughtful and vivid work of art ANNIE DILLARD McConkey is one of our best writers the gracefulness of his prose the depth of his perceptions are often profoundly moving He invests commonplace events and artifacts with harmony and meaning The deceptively simple stories are built around the relationships between parents and children between marriage partners between good friends It is a spiritual odyssey conveyed with rare sensitivity and eloquence Publishers Weekly In Court of Memory McConkey encounters himself in 23 essays that are ruminative humane and winning The book becomes a celebration of the enduring qualities of the human spirit Delightful reading PATRICIA

CLARK The Houston Post Court of Memory James McConkey,1993 These sequential meditations by one of our most skillful writers constitute a unique genre part autobiography part introspection part observation part narrative in which a life is continually re examined in the light of experience and time Taking personal experience as his core McConkey builds upon it to reveal connections and create an encompassing court of memory We come to know him his family his friends and in the process we recognize elements of our own lives as well The nexus through which these words pass is the writer s memory His opening quotation from St Augustine tells much about both the man and his vision All this I do inside me in the huge court of my memory There I have by me the sky the earth the sea and all the things in them which I have been able to perceive There too I encounter myself Book jacket Court of Memory James McConkey,1984 These sequential meditations by one of our most skillful writers constitute a unique genre part autobiography part introspection part observation part narrative in which a life is continually re examined in the light of experience and time Taking personal experience as his core McConkey builds upon it to reveal connections and create an encompassing court of memory We come to know him his family his friends and in the process we recognize elements of our own lives as well The nexus through which these words pass is the writer s memory His opening quotation from St Augustine tells much about both the man and his vision All this I do inside me in the huge court of my memory There I have by me the sky the earth the sea and all the things in them which I have been able to perceive There too I encounter myself Book jacket In The Courts Of Memory Lillie De Hegermann-lindenchrone,1980-11-21 In Supreme Court of Kansas, October 4, 1937, in Memory of William Agnew Johnston Kansas.
