Dancing Flea:

Charlie Chaplin's Last Dance Fabio Stassi,2014-04-03 A day without laughter is a day wasted It is Christmas Day when Charlie Chaplin receives a visit from Death The great actor is 82 years old but not yet ready to face the final curtain Desperate to see his teenage son grow up the actor strikes a deal if he manages to make Death laugh he will win an extra year of life As he awaits his final fatal encounter Chaplin composes an impassioned letter to his son in which he attempts to tell him about his past from his impoverished childhood in England with an alcoholic father and a mother who went mad to the heights of success on the silver screen in America via stunts in the circus and vaudeville and odd jobs as a newspaper hawker printer boxer and embalmer As well as being the story of the evolution of a comic genius this is the story of the evolution of cinema and how a beam of light on a white screen fired the imagination of an entire nation As in his silent films Charlie's adventures are simultaneously tragic and comic The narrative flickers at a frenetic clip from false starts and early failures to eventual triumph in the magical moment when before the eyes of a stupefied film crew Charlie became the Tramp with a little moustache a shuffling slantwise walk a cane and a dusty bowler hat one of the most iconic figures of the golden age of cinema was born The Skit Book Margaret Read MacDonald,2006 A collection of skits written by young people with instructions for performance The skits are arranged under such categories as Cumulative Actions Silly Singers Skits With Trick Endings Skits From Jokes Musical Ensembles and others Hock and Soda Water John Mortimer,2015-10-22 Henry now in the autumn of his years is transported back to the key episodes of his life At once ironic and affectionate he speaks with his younger self both man and boy offering warnings of a life to come and advice on how he might live it without the small self delusions and regrets that leave him ultimately unfulfilled Warm funny and entertaining Hock and Soda Water is a nostalgic lament for a life never lived The Last Showman Fred Brophy,2014-08-27 My life has been a mad travelling show meeting some of the strangest and greatest people who've ever lived I've had my fair share of trouble and I'm lucky to be here But I've always been a showman and I've done my best to preserve a precious part of an old Australia that's fast disappearing Son of a sideshow operator and trapeze artist fourth generation showman Fred Brophy grew up on the road travelling the length and breadth of Australia He did time in jail as a wild teenager before establishing his own successful boxing tent It has become a star attraction in the Outback and is now the only one of its kind in the world Fred tells stories of living on the smell of an oily rag rescuing battlers and becoming embroiled in some of the most bizarre adventures imaginable This is one helluva life full of hardship hilarity and unexpected turns including Fred being inducted into the Queensland Boxing Hall of Fame and receiving a Medal of the Order of Australia Now ladies and gentlemen let's go inside The show's about to begin Soul, Body, and Survival Kevin Corcoran,2001 How are soul and body related to one another Are human beings immaterial souls or complex physical organisms Will we survive the death of our bodies Does only the dualist view allow the possibility of life after death This collection brings together cutting edge research on the metaphysics

of human nature and the possibility of post mortem survival Kevin Corcoran's collection Soul Body and Survival includes chapters from those who embrace traditional soul body dualism those who assert person body identity and those who propose entirely new views that fall outside the categories of monism and dualism The first book to connect the metaphysics of persons with the belief in life after death thus intersecting with theological as well as philosophical inquiry it blurs the divide between metaphysics and the philosophy of mind

When Art Makes News Katia Dianina, 2012-11-15 From the time the word kul'tura entered the Russian language in the early nineteenth century Russian arts and letters have thrived on controversy At any given time several versions of culture have coexisted in the Russian public sphere The question of what makes something or someone distinctly Russian was at the core of cultural debates in nineteenth century Russia and continues to preoccupy Russian society to the present day When Art Makes News examines the development of a public discourse on national self representation in nineteenth century Russia as it was styled by the visual arts and popular journalism Katia Dianina tells the story of the missing link between high art and public culture revealing that art became the talk of the nation in the second half of the nineteenth century in the pages of mass circulation press At the heart of Dianina's study is a paradox how did culture become the national idea in a country where few were educated enough to appreciate it Dianina questions the traditional assumptions that culture in tsarist Russia was built primarily from the top down and classical literature alone was responsible for imagining the national community When Art Makes News will appeal to all those interested in Russian culture as well as scholars and students in museum and exhibition studies
