Security Awareness Program Builder Mark Majewski, 2022. Security Awareness programs have gone from an afterthought to a critical component of Information Security programs. Most large organizations now have one or more full-time employees dedicated to awareness and managing human risks. This book defines a common framework for building a broad awareness program using the Train, Reinforce, Assess, and Manage (TRAM) model. It includes specific advice and examples for activities across the TRAM functions. This book is filled with examples of deliverables an awareness professional can leverage in their program. This book also provides logical maturity steps that map out the progression for maturing an awareness program using TRAM. This Awareness Program Maturity Model (APMM) allows awareness practitioners to plan, measure, and mature their program.
