Ceramide Signaling:

Ceramide Signaling Anthony H. Futerman, 2002 The volume assembles current information on the role of ceramide as a signalling molecule in 16 chapters written by leading workers in this area Specific attention is given to mechanisms of analysis of ceramide and its biophysical properties on enzymes of ceramide metabolism and down stream targets of ceramide on the cross talk of ceramide signalling with other signalling pathways and on the role of ceramide in neuronal signalling Finally the book closes with a section on the therapeutic implications of ceramide action in the areas of cannabinoid action chemotherapy and atherosclerosis and illustrates the potential medical significance of delineating the roles of ceramide in cell signalling This is the first volume specifically devoted to ceramide signalling and will act as an invaluable resource for basic and medical researchers and graduate students wishing to get a state of the art overview of this rapidly moving field

John Cohen, 1996-10-31 Since programmed cell death was first described in insects in 1964 and apoptosis was described in 1972 rapid progress has been made in understanding the basic mechanisms and genes regulating programmed cell death and apoptosis In addition defects in various genes regulating programmed cell death have been delineated in several experimental models of human diseases This volume surveys various aspects of these rapidly developing areas of research in programmed cell death apoptosis This volume should be of interest to basic immunologists and molecular biologists The volume begins with a historical perspective of cell death The remainder of the volume is divided into four different parts Part I deals with the signaling pathways in apoptosis including cell cycle control of apoptosis role of ceramide in apoptosis role of antibody signaling and biochemical regulation of apoptosis The mechanisms for recognition of apoptotic lymphocytes by macrophages are also reviewed Part II examines the role of various genes that regulate apoptosis including the role of Fas FasL and other TNF family members in apoptosis and homeostatic regulation of immune response Recently described splice variants and their influence on apoptosis are also reviewed and the role of the members of the Bcl 2 family in apoptosis is discussed in detail Part III reviews various aspects of apoptosis in B lymphocytes including mechanisms that regulate apoptosis survival of B lymphocytes and the regulation of Fas mediated apoptosis in B lymphocytes
