Capitalism and Its Discontents John Kraniauskas,2017 Studies in Latin American Popular Culture,1983 Literary History: Towards a Global Perspective Anders Pettersson,Gunilla Lindberg-Wada,Margareta Petersson,Stefan Helgesson,2011-12-22 Literary History Towards a Global Perspective is a research project funded by the Swedish Research Council Vetenskapsr det Initiated in 1996 and launched in 1999 it aims at finding suitable methods and approaches for studying and analysing literature globally emphasizing the comparative and intercultural aspect Even though we nowadays have fast and easy access to any kind of information on literature and literary history we encounter more than ever the difficulty of finding a credible overall perspective on world literary history Until today literary cultures and traditions have usually been studied separately each field using its own principles and methods Even the conceptual basis itself varies from section to section and the genre concepts employed are not mutually compatible As a consequence it is very difficult if not impossible for the interested layperson as well as for the professional student to gain a clear and fair perspective both on the literary traditions of other peoples and on one s own traditions The project can be considered as a contribution to gradually removing this problem and helping to gain a better understanding of literature and literary history by means of a concerted empirical research and deeper conceptual reflection The contributions to the four volumes are written in English by specialists from a large number of disciplines primarily from the fields of comparative literature Oriental studies and African studies in Sweden All of the literary texts discussed in the articles are in the original language Each one of the four volumes is devoted to a special research topic Third World/Iowa: Latin America University of Iowa. Libraries,1987 China, The United States, and the Future of Latin America David B. H. Denoon,2017-10-24 Provides insight into U S and Chinese involvement in aid trade direct investment and strategic ties in Latin America In recent years China has become the largest trading partner for more than half the countries in Latin America and demonstrated major commitments in aid and direct investment in various parts of the region China has also made a number of strategic commitments to countries like Nicaragua Cuba and Venezuela which have long standing policies opposing U S influence in the region China the United States and the Future of Latin America posits that this activity is a direct challenge to the role of the U S in Latin America and the Caribbean Part of a three volume series analyzing U S China relations in parts of the world where neither country is dominant this volume analyzes the interactions between the U S China and Latin America The book series has so far considered the differences in operating styles between China and the U S in Central Asia and Southeast Asia This third volume unpacks the implications of competing U S and Chinese interests in countries such as Brazil and Argentina and China s commitments in Nicaragua and Venezuela This volume draws upon a variety of policy experts focusing on the viewpoints of

South American and Caribbean scholars as well as scholars from outside states China's new global reach and its ambitions as well as the U S response are analyzed in detail A nuanced examination of current complexities and future implications China the United States and the Future of Latin America provides readers with varied perspectives on the changing economic and strategic picture in Latin America and the Caribbean

Disciplinary Conquest Ricardo D. Salvatore, 2016-03-28 Ricardo D Salvatore rewrites the history of Latin American studies by tracing its roots back to the first half of the twentieth century showing how its ties to U S business and foreign policy interests helped build an informal empire that supported U S economic technological and cultural hegemony throughout the hemisphere

The Latin American Cultural Studies Reader Ana del Sarto, Alicia Ríos, Abril Trigo, 2004 Essays by intellectuals and specialists in Latin American cultural studies that provide a comprehensive view of the specific problems topics and methodologies of the field vis a vis British and U S cultural studies

The United States in Central America, 1860-1911 Thomas David Schoonover, 1991 In a work of unprecedented scope Thomas D Schoonover combines exhaustive multicountry archival research with a sophisticated theoretical framework grounded in world systems theory to elucidate the relations between the United States and Central America in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Schoonover's archival research in Central America Europe and the United States encompasses public business organizational and individual records In analyzing this material Schoonover applies a world systems theory approach with that of social imperialism and dependency theory to underscore the broad multistate dimension of international affairs In exploring the international history of Central America Schoonover describes the role of personalities such as John C Fr mont Otto von Bismarck Theodore Roosevelt Manuel Estrada Cabrera and Jos Santos Zelaya the impact of railroad building and canal projects and the role of pan Americanism nationalism racism and anti Americanism

Contemporary Hispanic Poets: Cultural Production in the Global, Digital Age - Student Edition John Burns, 2015-07-30 Note this is an abridged version of the book with references removed The complete edition is also available on this website Poets writing in Spanish by the end of the twentieth century had to contend with globalization as a backdrop for their literary production They could embrace it ignore it or potentially re imagine the role of the poet altogether This book examines some of the efforts of Spanish language poets to cope with the globalizing cultural economy of the late twentieth century This study looks at the similarities and differences in both text and context of poets some major and some minor writing in Chile Mexico the Mexican American community and Spain These poets write in a variety of styles from highly experimental approaches to poetry to more traditional methods of writing Included in this study are Chileans Ra l Zurita and Cecilia Vicu a Spaniards Leopoldo Mar a Panero and Luis Garc a Montero Mexicans Silvia Tomasa Rivera and Guillermo G mez Pe a and Mexican American Juan Felipe Herrera Some of them embrace and are even embraced by media both old and new whereas others eschew it Some continue their work in the vein of national traditions

while others become difficult to situate within any one single national tradition Exploring the varieties of strategies these writers employ this book makes it clear that Spanish language poets have not been exempt from the process of globalization Individually these poets have been studied to varying degrees Globalization has been studied extensively from a variety of disciplinary approaches particularly in the context of the Latin American region and Spain However it is a relative rarity to see poets being studied as they are in this work in terms of their relationship to globalization Taken as a sample or snapshot of writing tendencies in Latin American and Spanish poetry of the late twentieth century this book studies them as part of a greater circuit of cultural production by establishing their literary as well as extra literary genealogies and connections It situates these poets in terms of their writing itself as well as in terms of their literary traditions their methods of contending with neoliberal economic models and global information flows from the television and Internet Although many literary critics attempt to study the connections and relationships between poetry and the world beyond the page few monographs go about it the way this one does It takes a transatlantic approach to contemporary Spanish language poetry focusing on poets on poets from Spain and the American continent emphasizing their connections commonalities and differences across increasingly porous borders in the age of information The relationship between text and context is explored with a cultural studies approach more often associated with media studies than with literary studies Literature is not treated as a privileged object of isolated study but rather as a system of ideas and images that is deeply interwoven with other forms of human expression that have arisen in the last decades of the twentieth century The result is a suggestive analysis of the figure of the poet in the broader globalized marketplace of cultural goods and ideas Contemporary Hispanic Poets Cultural Production in the Global Digital Age is an important book for library collections in Spanish Latin American and Iberian Studies Chicano Studies

Literary History Anders Pettersson, Gunilla Lindberg-Wada, Margareta Petersson, Stefan Helgesson, 2006

Literary History Towards a Global Perspective is a research project funded by the Swedish Research Council Vetenskapsr det Initiated in 1996 and launched in 1999 it aims at finding suitable methods and approaches for studying and analysing literature globally emphasizing the comparative and intercultural aspect Even though we nowadays have fast and easy access to any kind of information on literature and literary history we encounter more than ever the difficulty of finding a credible overall perspective on world literary history Until today literary cultures and traditions have usually been studied separately each field using its own principles and methods Even the conceptual basis itself varies from section to section and the genre concepts employed are not mutually compatible As a consequence it is very difficult if not impossible for the interested layperson as well as for the professional student to gain a clear and fair perspective both on the literary traditions of other peoples and on one's own traditions The project can be considered as a contribution to gradually removing this problem and helping to gain a better understanding of literature and literary history by means of a concerted empirical research and deeper conceptual reflection The contributions to the four volumes are written in English by specialists from a large number of disciplines primarily from the fields of comparative literature Oriental studies and African studies in Sweden All of the literary texts discussed in the articles are in the original language Each one of the four volumes is devoted to a special research topic

Accumulation and Subjectivity Karen Benezra,2022-03-01 Since the 1970s sociocultural analysis in Latin American studies has been marked by a turn away from problems of political economy Accumulation and Subjectivity challenges this turn while reconceptualizing the relationship between political economy and the life of the subject The fourteen essays in this volume show that in order to understand the dynamics governing the extraction of wealth under contemporary capitalism we also need to consider the collective subjects implied in this operation at an institutional juridical moral and psychic level More than merely setting the scene for social and political struggle Accumulation and Subjectivity reveals Latin America to be a cauldron for thought for a critique of political economy and radical political change beyond its borders Combining reflections on political philosophy intellectual history narrative law and film from the colonial period to the present it provides a new conceptual vocabulary rooted in the material specificity of the region and for this very reason potentially translatable to other historical contexts This collection will be of interest to scholars of Marxism Latin American literary and cultural studies and the intellectual history of the left
