Critics Against Culture Richard Handler, 2005 A collection of essays on the history of anthropology focused on Benedict Boss Sapir and modernist thought It explores the roots of anthropology s involvement with the study of American society They focus on the critique of mass society and the history of the culture concept and examine Boasian anthropologists as critics of mass society American Kinship David M. Schneider, 2014-06-01 American Kinship is the first attempt to deal systematically with kinship as a system of symbols and meanings and not simply as a network of functionally interrelated familial roles Schneider argues that the study of a highly differentiated society such as our own may be more revealing of the nature of kinship than the study of anthropologically more familiar but less differentiated societies He goes to the heart of the ideology of relations among relatives in America by locating the underlying features of the definition of kinship nature vs law substance vs code One of the most significant features of American Kinship then is the explicit development of a theory of culture on which the analysis is based a theory that has since proved valuable in the analysis of other cultures For this Phoenix edition Schneider has written a substantial new chapter responding to his critics and recounting the charges in his thought since the book was first published in 1968

Persuasions and Prejudices Irving Louis Horowitz, 1989-01-01 With the presumption that review essays and statements written for special occasions may reveal as much about the writer as those written about Irving Louis Horowitz has collected thirty five years of his criticism and commentary Included are comments on the famous near famous and infamous sociologists political scientists and assorted literary figures in between Taken as a whole this volume will surprise and delight readers who are acquainted with Horowitz s other works as well as those who are interested in the people he writes about Written with characteristic verve and nerve these statements sometimes combine two or more reviews into one statement often of substantial length Altogether the collection gives a picture of twentieth century social science as an ongoing dialogue within itself about the nature of social reality as well as the nature of the disciplines seeking to define that reality The results are sometimes serious other times amusing but uniformly compelling The book covers Arendt to Zetterberg and such major figures in between as Becker Bell de Jouvenel Mills Parsons Solzhenitsyn and more than eighty other leading lights who have had an effect on the contemporary social landscape All are critically examined sometimes positively other times negatively Long recognized as a major figure in his own right Horowitz writes with the kind of refreshing frankness experts will appreciate and the general reader will understand The underlying assumption behind the volume giving its disparate parts a unified characteristic is that together these observations on others amount to a general theory of social science held by the author Whether his larger ambition is accepted or disputed there is no doubt that the volume provides a standard against which to measure the literary quality of reviewing in the world of professional social research    Anarchy ,1917    On Becoming a Musical, Mystical Bear Matthew Fox,1976 Spirituality American Style Matthew Fox Blueprint for moderns seeking to renew faith in an age of cultural upheaval    A Time to Speak Archibald MacLeish,1940    The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1969    The Conservator ,1896    New York Journal of Homœopathy ,1918    Papers Read Before the Society and Published Under Its Auspices ,1908    The Nation ,1886    *The Complete Works of W.E.
