Work, Health, and Environment Charles Levenstein, John Wooding, 1997-07-19 This is an indispensable collection on the crisis of worker health and safety in the United States This collection offers an all important lesson for the labor movement that problems of occupational health and safety are not merely technical problems but rather problems relating to workers lack of control over the organization of capitalist production Exploring the Domain of Accident Law Don DeWees, David Duff, Michael Trebilcock, 1996-01-04 In the mid 1980s there was a crisis in the availability affordability and adequacy of liability insurance in the United States and Canada Mass tort claims such as the asbestos DES and Agent Orange litigation generated widespread public attention and the tort system came to assume a heightened prominence in American life While some scholars debate whether or not any such crisis still exists there has been an increasing political judicial and academic questioning of the goals and future of the tort system Exploring the Domain of Tort Law reviews the evidence on the efficacy of the tort system and its alternatives By looking at empirical evidence in five major categories of accidents automobile medical malpractice product related accidents environmental injuries and workplace injuries the authors evaluate the degree to which the tort system conforms to three normative goals deterrence corrective justice and distributive justice In each case the authors review the deterrence and compensatory properties of the tort system and then review parallel bodies of evidence on regulatory penal and compensatory alternatives Most of the academic literature on the tort system has traditionally been doctrinal or in recent years highly theoretical Very little of this literature provides an in depth consideration of how the system works and whether or not there are any feasible alternatives Exploring the Domain of Tort Law contributes valuable new evidence to the tort law reform debate It will be of interest to academic lawyers and economists policy analysts policy professionals in government and research organizations and all those affected by tort law reform
