Jiří Krámský,1972 The article and the concept of definiteness in language Jiří Krámský,1972 Definiteness in a Language without Articles - A Study on Polish Adrian Czardybon,2017-06-13 The aim of this book is to investigate how definiteness is expressed in Polish a language which is claimed to have no definite and in definite articles The central question is how the difference in definiteness is indicated between a woman and the woman in Polish In English the definite article the and the indefinite article a express the category of definiteness explicitly Since definiteness is also relevant in articleless languages there are other means to indicate that a nominal phrase is definite or indefinite This study is delimited to four means for expressing definiteness in Polish which are demonstratives aspect case alternation and information structure Each strategy is investigated independently from the others although they interact in a complex way which is shown at the end of this book resulting in a decision tree Polish is not investigated in isolation however the study is complemented by comparisons with other Slavic languages and also with a Polish dialect called Upper Silesian which differs from Polish The analysis in this book is based on L bner s theory of Concept Types and Determination CTD L bner s distinction of the four concept types sortal relational functional individual is crucial since definiteness phenomena under discussion can be explained Therefore the interaction of the four concept types with the four definiteness strategies plays a central role in this book The Concept of Definiteness and Its Application to Automated Reference Resolution Zaur Kambarov,2008 This book is a study of the category of definiteness in the light of research on mental spaces and frames The author formulates a set of eight uniform rules for the use of the definite indefinite and zero articles in English and German The Concept of Definiteness presents an algorithm for nominal reference resolution that uses the definiteness value of each noun phrase to guide the search for its referent The book discusses the results of the application of an automated system based on the proposed algorithm to texts in modern English It also demonstrates applicability of the selected approach to text fragments representing all major historical variants of the German language Encyclopedia of Language & abstract This paper examines the article system in interlanguage grammar focusing on Russian L1 teachers of English L2 whose native language lacks articles Conclusions made would help teachers know the future steps to be taken in assisting students in becoming proficient in English and also to improve the proficiency of Russian L1 teachers of English L2 who usually do not have an opportunity to spend some time abroad English possess overt system of articles a an the Although

Russian does not employ article system it will be argued that Russian definiteness and indefiniteness as semantic features are hidden in the syntax and lexis of this language It will be hypothesized that Russian L1 teachers of English L2 will make articles substitution and omission errors which are resulted from the first language interference L1 transfer It will be also suggested that as all the test participants belong to the advanced group of learners they will acquire articles in the following order a the These suggestions will further be supported empirically by a fill in the article task It will be concluded that Russian L1 teachers of English L2 understand the system of the English articles fairly well but due to their L1 transfer which does not possess the system of articles they have trouble understanding how to use articles with abstract nouns or in the context of generalisation Majority of test participants have made more than one articles substitution and omission errors
