Riffenburgh,2008 The early twentieth century was the heroic age of Antarctic exploration a time when adventurers such as Scott and Shackleton were national icons who personified the contemporary ideal of manly struggle for the good of Empire But while these two are world famous to this day Australian Douglas Mawson whose Australasian Antarctic Expedition undertaken in 1911 after Mawson had been a key member of Shackleton s Nimrod expedition Dr Edmund Hillary described as the greatest survival story in the history of exploration is not He should be however Mawson s expedition undertaken on a small whaling ship called Aurora combines several exceptionally exciting elements Once in the Antarctic the expedition split up into smaller parties exploring different areas The two other members of Mawson s party died and Mawson was left to struggle hundreds of miles back to base on his own Despite incredible odds he made it only to find that the rescue ship had sailed away leaving him to face a year on his own in the Antarctic Scientifically and geographically speaking Mawson s expedition was truly groundbreaking and established Australia as a key player in the Antarctic Mawson who had complex relationships with both Scott and Shackleton was changed utterly by his struggles in the Antarctic and his story is a fascinating insight into the human psyche under extreme stress Racing with Death is an unforgettable story of true heroism

Douglas Mawson Adrian Magee,1996 Describes Mawson s life before his work as an Antarctic explorer in brief informative text and with many photos From his first journey in 1908 to his death in Adelaide in 1958 Mawson earned his place as a Maker and Shaker in this Australian series Includes glossary and index For ages 10 15 years A Life Given to the Antarctic Evgeny Matveevich SUZYUMOV,Douglas Mawson,Tina Tupikina-Glaessner,1968 A Life Given to the Antarctic: Douglas Mawson--Antarctic Explorer Evgeniĭ Matveevich Suzi{u0361}umov,1968 A Life Given to the Antarctic: Douglas Mawson--Antarctic Explorer Evgeniĭ Matveevich Suzi{u0361}umov,1968 After the Last Dog Died Carmen Bredeson,2003 Describes the life and career of the Australian explorer Sir Douglas Mawson focusing on his 1912 scientific expedition to Antarctica Alone on the Ice: The Greatest Survival Story in the History of Exploration David Roberts,2013-01-28 Describes the epic journey undertaken by Douglas Mawson who suffered starvation the loss of his team and a crippling foot injury as he resorted to crawling back to base camp during the Australasian Antarctic Expedition of 1913 Antarctica David Day,2013-06-03 Since the first sailing ships spied the Antarctic coastline in 1820 the frozen continent has captured the world s imagination David Day s brilliant biography of Antarctica describes in fascinating detail every aspect of this vast land s history two centuries of exploration scientific investigation and contentious geopolitics Earth Sciences History ,2005 Australian Explorers by Sea, Land, and Air, 1788-1988 Ian Francis McLaren,1991

Explorers Journal Ernest Ingersoll, 1928      Mawson, 2012 Sir Douglas Mawson born in 1882 and knighted in 1914 remains Australia's greatest Antarctic explorer On 2 December 1911 his Australasian Antarctic Expedition left Hobart to explore the virgin frozen coastline below Australia 2000 miles of which had never felt the tread of a human foot He was on his way to fulfil a national dream he had first conceived three years earlier while on his first trip to the frozen continent on the Nimrod expedition under the leadership of the charismatic Anglo Irishman Sir Ernest Shackleton Even as Mawson and his men were approaching Antarctica two other famous Antarctic explorers were already engaged in nothing less than a race to become the first men to reach the South Pole While Roald Amundsen of Norway with his small team was racing with dogs along one route England's legendary Scott of the Antarctic with his far larger team was relying primarily on ponies and man hauling to get there along another As Mawson and his men make their home on the windiest place on earth and prepare for their own record breaking treks with devastating drama to be their constant companion the stories of Amundsen and Scott similarly play out With his trademark in depth research FitzSimons provides a compelling portrait of these great Antarctic explorers For the first time he weaves together their legendary feats into one thrilling account bringing the jaw dropping events of this bygone era dazzlingly back to life      Mawson Philip Ayres, 2003 In the heroic age of polar exploration Sir Douglas Mawson stands in the first rank His Antarctic expeditions of 1911-14 and 1929-31 resulted in Australia claiming forty per cent of the sixth continent The sole survivor of an epic 300 mile trek Mawson was also a scientist of national stature His image on banknotes and stamps reflects enduring public esteem Yet until now there has been no comprehensive objective biography of this tall quiet figure Aside from his two great expeditions we have known remarkably little about him Sources exist in profusion People who knew him socially and professionally from as early as the 1920s are still alive He kept copies of almost all his correspondence and his papers reveal his most private self his virtues and flaws his social and professional circles and the development and disintegration of his friendships Most of this material has scarcely been touched over the years Philip Ayres has now uncovered from these and many other unpublished sources a complex and interesting figure He portrays Mawson the geo politician with influential friends and rivals who in 1942 offered his services to Prime Minister Curtin as Ambassador to Washington In the Antarctic darkness of 1913 he confronted the bewildered delusions of a companion who believed himself to be Jesus Christ He once took an advanced monoplane to the ends of the earth and forgot to pay for it During the Great War he compiled detailed reports on chemical weapons during visits to the vast war factories of England Ayres also shows us the devoted husband of Paquita the social Mawson of the Adelaide Club the scientist within his national and international networks the geologist who in 1924 failed to get the Sydney Chair and the litigious Mawson suing or threatening suit against associates who failed him The icon both converges and conflicts with the real man In this long awaited most impressive and readable biography Philip Ayres not only illuminates Douglas Mawson's many achievements but also enables us to know and understand him as a human being The book's many illustrations include reproductions of exquisite early colour photographs from the Antarctic expedition of 1911 14 The Heroic Age of Antarctic Exploration on Film and Television, Volume 1 John Atkins, 2025-09-17 This book examines in detail for the first time the screen legacy of the great Irish born Antarctic explorer Sir Ernest Shackleton 1874 1922 It encompasses the pioneering expedition films he made from 1909 to 1922 and the documentary and drama productions he has inspired since then The book provides a unique and original approach to understanding Shackleton including the first comprehensive account of the original Antarctic documentary film now lost that recorded the achievements of the 1908 09 Nimrod expedition Drawing on much original source material films diaries contemporary newspapers and journals that has not been unearthed by previous authors this volume presents a fresh perspective and includes a filmography with more than 100 entries spanning 1908 to 2024 Proceedings and Transactions of the Queensland Branch of the Geographical Society of Australasia ,1929 Including the proceedings of the Royal Geographic Society of Australasia Queensland Queensland Geographical Journal ,1929
