

End-of-Life Pathway (from 1 November 2025)

Fact sheet for doctors and nurse practitioners

What is the End-of-Life Pathway?

The End-of-Life Pathway is a short-term pathway under the Support at Home program. It supports participants who have been diagnosed with 3 months or less to live and wish to remain at home, by providing more funding to access in-home aged care services.

On the End-of-Life Pathway, an older person will have access to a budget of $25,000 over 12 weeks. If the older person requires services beyond 12 weeks, an urgent Support Plan Review can be undertaken to transfer the participant to an ongoing Support at Home classification. The End-of-Life Pathway budget can be used up to the 16-week mark to support continuity of care.

Who is eligible for the End-of-Life Pathway?

An older person is eligible to access the End-of-Life Pathway if they meet the following criteria:

- a doctor or nurse practitioner advises estimated life expectancy of 3 months or less to live; and
- Australian-modified Karnofsky Performance Status (AKPS) score (mobility/frailty indicator) of 40 or less.

Note that participants will also need to meet general entry criteria for accessing funded aged care services, including being aged 65 or over (or age 50 or over for an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person or homeless or at risk of homelessness).
