Eagle In Flames:

Wolfram Von Richthofen James S. Corum, 2008 The first book length biography of the Luftwaffe's top field commander Wolfram von Richthofen a master of the tactical and operational air war one of the key catalysts in the resurrection of the German air force and an ardent and unwavering follower of the Fuhrer The RAF in the Battle of France and the Battle of Britain Greg Baughen, 2017-09-15 In May 1940 the opposing German and Allied forces seemed reasonably well matched On the ground the four allied nations had more troops artillery and tanks Even in the air the German advantage in numbers was slight Yet two months later the Allied armies had been crushed The Netherlands Belgium and France had all surrendered and Britain stood on her own facing imminent defeat Subsequent accounts of the campaign have tended to see this outcome as predetermined with the seeds of defeat sown long before the fighting began Was it so inevitable Should the RAF have done more to help the Allied armies Why was such a small proportion of the RAF's frontline strength committed to the crucial battle on the ground Could Fighter Command have done more to protect the British and French troops being evacuated from the beaches of Dunkirk This study looks at the operations flown and takes a fresh look at the fatal decisions made behind the scenes decisions that unnecessarily condemned RAF aircrews to an unequal struggle and ultimately ensured Allied defeat What followed became the RAF's finest hour with victory achieved by the narrowest of margins Or was it as some now suggest a victory that was always inevitable If so how was the German military juggernaut that had conquered most of Europe so suddenly halted This study looks at the decisions and mistakes made by both sides It explains how the British obsession with bomber attacks on cities had led to the development of the wrong type of fighter force and how only a fortuitous sequence of events enabled Fighter Command to prevail It also looks at how ready the RAF was to deal with an invasion How much air support could the British Army have expected Why were hundreds of American combat planes and experienced Polish and Czech pilots left on the sidelines And when the Blitz began and Britain finally got the war it was expecting what did this campaign tell us about the theories on air power that had so dominated pre war air policy All these questions and more are answered in Greg Baughen's third book Baughen describes the furious battles between the RAF and the Luftwaffe and the equally bitter struggle between the Air Ministry and the War Office and explains how close Britain really came to defeat in the summer of 1940 Aces at Kursk Christopher A Lawrence, 2024-07-25 The Battle of Kursk in July 1943 is known for being the largest tank battle in history A Russian victory it marked the decisive end of the German offensive capability on the Eastern Front and set the scene for the Soviet successes that followed While many have focused on the tank engagements especially the Battle of Prokhorovka there was an intense air battle going on overhead that was bigger than the Battle of Britain As part of the German offensive the Luftwaffe's VIII Air Corps deployed around 1 100 aircraft in the south alone while the opposing Soviet Second and Seventeenth air armies initially deployed over 1 600 aircraft There was a similar effort surrounding the German attack in the north The battle in the south began with a Soviet air strike on German airfields and a fight for control of the air that continued throughout the day across the front On the first day of the battle 5 July 1943 the Germans flew at least 2 387 sorties in the south while the two Soviet air armies flew 1 688 sorties That first day of battle resulted in 19 to 27 German planes and 189 Soviet aircraft shot down This was an aerial engagement like no other ever seen before Involved on the German side were the 52nd and 3rd Fighter Wings The 52nd Fighter Wing was the most accomplished fighter wing in history and many of its top aces were involved in the combats over the Kursk battlefield These included Walter Krupinski 197 claimed kills in the war G nther Rall the third highest scoring ace in history 275 claimed kills and the highest scoring ace in history Erich Hartmann 352 claimed kills Opposing them were what were to become three of the top five Soviet aces Kirill Yevstigneyev 53 claimed kills Nikolai Gulayev 55 claimed kills and the top scoring Allied ace of the war Ivan Kozhedub 62 claimed kills This was indeed the battle of the aces But there was also the massive ground attack effort by both sides including the Junkers Ju 87 Stuka fitted with 37mm anti tank guns flown by the man who would become most decorated soldier of the Third Reich Hans Ulrich Rudel The aerial battle involved hundreds of Soviet Sturmoviks or IL 2s Stalin s armored ground attack plane The battle featured the famous attack by Luftwaffe Hs 129s and Fw 190s on Soviet armor on 8 July 1943 Aces at Kursk is not just a war story but a revealing investigation that analyses the entire air battle that turned the tide of the war on the Eastern Front Hitler's Northern War Adam R. A. Claasen,2001 Adolf Hitler had high hopes for his conquest of Norway which held both great symbolic and great strategic value for the Fuhrer Despite early successes however his ambitious northern campaign foundered and ultimately failed Adam Claasen for the first time reveals the full story of this neglected episode and shows how it helped doom the Third Reich to defeat Hitler and Raeder the chief of the German navy were determined to take and keep Norway By doing so they hoped to preempt Allied attempts to outflank Germany protect sea lanes for German ships access precious Scandinavian minerals for war production and provide a launchpad for Luftwaffe and naval operations against Great Britain Beyond those strategic objectives Hitler also envisioned Norway as part of a pan Nordic stronghold a centerpiece of his new world order But as Claasen shows Hitler s grand expectations were never realized Gring s Luftwaffe was the vital spearhead in the invasion of Norway which marked a number of wartime firsts Among other things it involved the first large scale aerial operations over sea rather than land the first time operational objectives and logistical needs were fulfilled by air power and the first deployment of paratroopers Although it got off to a promising start the German effort particularly against British and arctic convoys was greatly hampered by flawed strategic thinking interservice rivalries between the Luftwaffe and navy the failure to develop a long range heavy bomber the diversion of planes and personnel to shore up the German war effort elsewhere and the northern theater s harsh climate and terrain Claasen s study covers every aspect of this ill fated campaign from the 1940 invasion until war s end and shows how it was eventually relegated to a backwater status as Germany fought to survive in an increasingly unwinnable war His compelling account sharpens our picture of the German air force and widens our
