Manors and Maps in Rural England, from the Tenth Century to the Seventeenth P.D.A. Harvey, 2023-05-31 P D A Harvey is a historian of medieval rural England with a wide interest in the history of cartography this collection of his essays brings together both these strands It first looks at the English countryside from the 10th century to the 15th investigating problems in particular documents in the village community and in underlying long term changes How landlords drew profits from their property in the eleventh and twelfth centuries how and why there followed changes in the way landed estates were run and in the written records they produced what new light their personal seals can throw on medieval peasants are all among the topics discussed while the local management of large estates and the development of the peasant land market are themes that recur throughout There follow essays on the way maps were brought into the management of landed estates in the 16th and 17th centuries starting with the introduction of consistent scale into mapping a new concept crucially important in the general history of topographical maps The collection closes by looking at some of the traps that both documents and maps set for the historian of the English countryside Æthelflæd, Lady of the Mercians, and Women in Tenth-Century

England Rebecca Hardie, 2023-11-06 thefl d c 870 918 political leader military strategist and administrator of law is one of the most important ruling women in English history Despite her multifaceted roles and family legacy however her reign and relationship with other women in tenth century England have never been the subject of a book length study This interdisciplinary collection of essays redresses a notable hiatus in scholarship of early medieval England thefl d Lady of the Mercians and Women in Tenth Century England argues for a reassessment of women s political military literary and domestic agency It invites deeper reflection on the female kinships networks and communities that give meaning to thefl d s life and through this shows how medieval history can invite new engagements with the past Death in Jewish Life Stefan C.

Reif, Andreas Lehnardt, Avriel Bar-Levav, 2014-08-27 Jewish customs and traditions about death burial and mourning are numerous diverse and intriguing They are considered by many to have a respectable pedigree that goes back to the earliest rabbinic period In order to examine the accurate historical origins of many of them an international conference was held at Tel Aviv University in 2010 and experts dealt with many aspects of the topic This volume includes most of the papers given then as well as a few added later What emerges are a wealth of fresh material and perspectives as well as the realization that the high Middle Ages saw a set of exceptional innovations some of which later became central to traditional Judaism while others were gradually abandoned Were these innovations influenced by Christian practice Which prayers and poems reflect these innovations What do the sources tell us about changing attitudes to death and life after death Are tombstones an important guide to historical developments Answers to these questions are to be found in this unusual illuminating and
