Conference Classics Volume Two :

Two Hundred Years of Pushkin, Volume II, 2021-11-01 Pushkin's status as the founding father of Russian literature owes much to his stylistic and linguistic innovations across a wide range of literary genres. But equally important is the influence he exerted on his successors via his exploitation of myth in its widest sense. His poetry, prose, and drama frequently draw upon myths of classical antiquity, myths of modern European culture, grand narratives such as the Don Juan legend and Dante's Inferno, as well as uniquely Russian myths, particularly those associated with St. Petersburg and its founder Peter the Great. It was through the elaboration of such myths that Russia attained to a sense of both its cultural uniqueness and its inscription in the broader context of European culture. The contributors to Alexander Pushkin: Myth and Monument explore these myths from a variety of critical viewpoints and highlight the specific ways in which Pushkin uses myth among these. His recurrent emphasis on the symbolism of monuments and statuary, famously referred to by Roman Jakobson as Pushkin's sculptural myth, Alexander Pushkin: Myth and Monument is the second volume devoted to Pushkin, published in the SSLP series, the first being Pushkin's Secret: Russian Writers Reread and Rewrite Pushkin. A third volume, Pushkin's Legacy, will follow.

God's Wounds: Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering, Volume Two, Jeff B. Pool, 2010-01-01. This book constitutes the second volume of a three-volume study of Christian testimonies to divine suffering, God's Wounds: Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering, vol. 2, Evil and Divine Suffering. The larger study focuses its inquiry into the testimonies to divine suffering themselves, seeking to allow the voices that attest to divine suffering to speak freely, then to discover and elucidate the internal logic or rationality of this family of testimonies, rather than defending these attestations against the dominant claims of classical Christian theism that have historically sought to eliminate such language altogether from Christian discourse about the nature and life of God. This second volume of studies proceeds on the basis of the presuppositions of this symbol: those implicit attestations that provide the conditions of possibility for divine suffering that which constitutes divine vulnerability with respect to creation, as identified and examined in the first volume of this project, an understanding of God through the primary metaphor of love: God is love, and an understanding of the human as created in the image of God with a life, though finite, analogous to the divine life, the imago Dei, as love. The second volume then investigates the first two divine wounds or modes of divine suffering to which the larger family of testimonies to divine suffering normally attest: 1) divine grief suffering because of betrayal by the beloved human or human sin, and 2) divine self-sacrifice suffering for the beloved human in its bondage to sin or misery, to establish the possibility of redemption and reconciliation. Each divine wound thus constitutes a response to a creaturely occasion. The suffering in each divine wound also occurs in two stages: a passive stage and an active stage. In divine grief, God suffers because of human sin, betrayal of the divine lover by the beloved human; divine sorrow as the passive stage of divine grief, and divine anguish as the active stage of divine grief. In divine self-sacrifice, God suffers in response to the misery or bondage of the beloved human's infidelity; divine travail focused on the divine incarnation in Jesus of Nazareth as the active stage of divine self sacrifice and divine agony focused on divine suffering in the crucifixion of Jesus of Nazareth as the passive stage of divine self sacrifice
