

COLONIAL LITERATURE VERSUS POSTCOLONIAL LITERATURE

Colonial literature is the literature written during the colonisation, using colonies as a setting

Often written from the perspective of the coloniser

Portrays colonisation as a natural, unproblematic, often 'correct' process

Often portrays indigenous people and culture savage or primitive

Postcolonial literature is the literature that expresses opposition or resistance to colonisation

Written from the perspective of the former colonised

Portrays the problems and consequences of colonisation and decolonization

Attempts to describe indigenous people, places and practices to counteract the stereotypical images portrayed by the colonisers
