Colorful Storm:

Is This America? Ron Eyerman, 2015-09-01 From police on the street to the mayor of New Orleans and FEMA administrators government officials monumentally failed to protect the most vulnerable residents of New Orleans and the Gulf Coast during the Katrina disaster This violation of the social contract undermined the foundational narratives and myths of the American nation and spawned a profound often contentious public debate over the meaning of Katrina s devastation A wide range of voices and images attempted to clarify what happened name those responsible identify the victims and decide what should be done This debate took place in forums ranging from mass media and the political arena to the arts and popular culture as various narratives emerged and competed to tell the story of Katrina Is This America explores how Katrina has been constructed as a cultural trauma in print media the arts and popular culture and television coverage Using stories told by the New York Times New Orleans Times Picayune Time Newsweek NBC and CNN as well as the works of artists writers musicians filmmakers and graphic designers Ron Eyerman analyzes how these narratives publicly articulated collective pain and loss He demonstrates that by exposing a foundational racial cleavage in American society these expressions of cultural trauma turned individual experiences of suffering during Katrina into a national debate about the failure of the white majority in the United States to care about the black minority

The Cambridge Guide to the Solar System Kenneth R. Lang, 2003-09-25 The Cambridge Guide to the Solar System provides a comprehensive and up to date description of the planets and their moons Writing at an introductory level appropriate for high school and undergraduate students Professor Lang leads the reader on a fascinating journey of exploration to the worlds beyond our home planet Earth The book begins with a short introduction to the history of planetary observation and discovery The major planets and their moons are then introduced by presenting common properties processes and themes This is followed by chapters which focus on individual planets and other solar system objects including a comprehensive treatment of the various space missions from the Apollo missions to the Moon to recent missions to Jupiter and Mars Filled with vital facts and information and lavishly illustrated in colour throughout this book will also appeal to professionals as well as general readers with an interest in planetary science

Legends of Power Andrea Sharkey, 2000-05-20 Power is a magnet as bees are drawn to nectar so are we drawn to power It is what makes us so desirous of that sensual star on the big screen or makes us blindly follow the golden voice at the podium Escape into a world where you can share the most intimate moments with such people whose passion erupts in spite of the many gods they worship two people who must have met while the Gods turned their heads Read on as these people take their world down a path only they could envision This is the experience you will have as you read Legends of Power

Rebel Fire Ann Sei Lin, 2024-09-03 The second book in

Ann Sei Lin's Rebel Skies fantasy YA series set in a world of flying ships, sky cities, and rebel uprisings. Perfect for fans of Elizabeth Lim, Kalynn Bayron, and the films of Studio Ghibli. Kurara has barely escaped the grasp of Princess Tsukimi. Reeling from her Crafter mentor's grim betrayal, Kurara and her friends are desperate to catch up with their old airship, even if it means they have to do it on foot. But after everything she's been through, Kurara refuses to give up, on understanding and freeing the shikigami, origami creatures enchanted to life, nor will she stop at anything to understand her mysterious past, no matter who tries to interfere or what dark truths about her role in the war may surface. The farther south she goes, Her goal is the Grand Stream, where Suzaku, the greatest shikigami of all, lies in furious wait. But Kurara isn't the only one searching for Suzaku. Traveling through forests, seas, and the ruins of an underground Crafter city, there is no shortage of enemies who wish to control Kurara and the shikigami of the world for their own ends. When a bloody confrontation leads to horrifying revelations about the true nature of shikigami and Kurara's past, Kurara will need all the support she can muster just to carry on. In this sequel to the breathless Rebel Skies, readers will return to the soaring heights, incredible twists, and dark depths of Ann Sei Lin's vivid fantasy world.

Color Me John Christopher Yount, 2021-09-09 Color Me is the story of Johnathan Black, a painter who suffers from schizophrenia. Throughout the drama, his psychoses are represented by percussion and dance. The play follows Johnathan's growth over the course of eighteen years, from the onset of his mental illness through his triumph over insanity as he accepts a position teaching art at a nearby community college. The play begins when Johnathan is only twelve years of age, and the Black family is just finishing their evening meal. Johnathan's birthday is arriving, and his parents have decided to give him weekly painting lessons to encourage his young talent. Susan Black is pregnant and will soon give birth to Johnathan's only sibling, Anne Marie. Up in his room after dinner, as Johnathan finishes his homework, he interacts with the demons that will haunt him throughout his youth. His subconscious mind is plagued by nine demons altogether: one black, one white, and one for each color of the spectrum. When Act Two begins, Johnathan is a grown man, hospitalized on an inpatient psychiatric ward. The demons are with him in the hospital, filling the roles of the hospital staff as well as other patients on the ward. All the demons are progressively transformed from the colors of Johnathan's subconscious mind to realistic, tangible characters with whom Johnathan interacts as he becomes grounded in reality. At the conclusion of Act Three, Johnathan, having accepted a job offer to teach art at a local community college, proposes to Claire.
